

Adopt Wording On Referendum

Supervisors by 29 to 1 Tally Put Community College Plan to Voters

The wording of a referendum on the proposed Ulster County Community College was adopted by the Board of Supervisors Thursday evening with one dissenting ballot.

The referendum, which will be submitted to the voters of Ulster County at the general election on November 7, follows:

"Shall the County of Ulster sponsor a community college pursuant to the plan formulated by the Board of Supervisors, at an estimated initial capital cost to the county of $650,000 and an estimated annual cost of maintenance and operation to the county of $213,700?"

The board voted 29 to one in favor of the referendum. The dissenting ballot was cast by George Majestic of the town of Gardiner.

"Due to the fact that the location is not mentioned I vote no," Majestic said.

The Board of Supervisors also adopted an eight-page plan for the establishment and operation of a community college. The plan will be submitted to the board of trustees of the State University of New York for approval.

Both resolutions were introduced by Roy J. Webber, chairman of the board's community college committee. Members of the committee are Alexander J. Banyo, Edwin C. Chase, Abram F. Molyneux, John J. Gaffney and Roger W. Mabie.

Building to Cost $1,307,789

The plan estimates the cost of construction of a suitable building at $1,307,789. This is based on a square footage of 46,700 at $19.50 per square foot.

Half of the capital costs of the college would be financed by the state and half by the county.

Operating costs per student are estimated at approximately $900 per student annually, of which one-third would be paid by the state, one-third by the county and a third by the student as tuition. A full-time day division student would pay about $300 a year.

It is estimated that the college would have an enrollment of approximately 688 students in 1963 with 1,677 in 1965 and 1,981 in 1970.

Of the 688 students anticipated for 1963 a total of 222 would be full-time day division students, 22 part-time day division and 444 evening division, according to the estimates.

To Offer Two Degrees

The college would offer two degrees—Associate in Arts (AA) and Associate in Applied Sciences (AAS).

The college would offer transfer programs intended to enable students to transfer to a four-year college upon completion of their first two years of college work, and terminal programs which are intended to prepare students for employment upon completion of the two-year course.

The plan submitted by the committee indicated in a foreword that the State University of New York, through its executive deans for its institutes and community colleges, Dr. Lawrence L. Jarvie and Dr. Marvin A. Rapp, has worked closely with

Oppose Cut Back Of Troopers at Highland Station

Ulster County Board of Supervisors Thursday evening adopted a resolution opposing the reduction of state police at the Highland barracks on Route 9W and the "shutdown or relocation of the same barracks if such action is contemplated."

The resolution, introduced by Supervisor Peter Savago of the Town of New Paltz, called attention to official action by the superintendent of state police to reduce personnel at the barracks and "unofficial newspaper items" which have indicated a possible shutdown or relocation of the barracks.

The resolution pointed out that the Highland barracks has one of the largest districts in Ulster County to cover and that Routes 9W, 32, 299, 208 and 44-55 in the southern part of the county "have probably the most serious accidents and traffic violations of

It's Politics, Not CS, He Says

Not Naming Salapatis Is Scored by Sterley

Criticism of Wednesday's Board of Public Works appointment of Charles J. Cole, 39, of 72 Summer Street, as public works superintendent in preference to another who had scored a higher civil service rating, came today from Attorney John B. Sterley, city Republican Party chairman.

Cole, who has served provisionally in the post for more than two years, scored 88 in an open competitive examination, and John C. Salapatis, 43, of 25 Harding Avenue, an assistant in the city engineer's office, who was permitted to take a promotional examination, scored 91.1.

Called It Spoils System

"By its recent appointment to the position of superintendent of public works," said former Surrogate Sterley, "the administration has once again shown its devotion to the spoils system, and has, in effect, thrown the concept of civil service out the window."

"The civil service system, he said, 'was enacted to encourage the participation by honest individuals in government employment without the fear of losing one's position through changes in political administrations. The promotion of conscientious public officials within a department has always been the keystone of the system.'"

Points to Politics

Best qualified for the position, he contends, "according to the impartial civil service results, has been shuttled aside by reason of political motivation. The people have lost the service of a trained career employee to a political appointee. The citizens of our city deserve the most qualified public servants, and this most recent act of the Radei administration shows that it is more concerned with feathering its own political nest than with attending to the best interests of the people. Once again, the taxpayer has been short changed and is not getting the most qualified man for his tax dollar."

To Contest Move

Salapatis said Thursday that the appointment is to be contested through legal counsel. He has been in the engineer's department since 1954, and has served as assistant city engineer with civil service status since 1956. He graduated from New York public schools and of the College of the City of New York, where he studied engineering, he also gained special training through the U. S. Air Force, in Carroll College, Waukesha, Wis. Also while in the service he studied at schools of navigation and meteorology. He is an air corps veteran of World War 2 and Korea, and now has the rating of major in the active air force reserve. In World War 2 he served in the American and European theatres and received the Air Medal with eight oak leaf clusters, and five battle stars earned in the European Theatre, plus an Occupation Medal of Japan in the Korean conflict.

Hundreds of Millions To Die if New War Is Touched Off: Nikita

Says West Is Talking Nonsense

Declares Lies Not
Stopping Russians

By REINHOLD G. ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev, in a shouting and arm-waving speech, declared today hundreds of millions of persons will die if a new war is touched off.

He said Western leaders who claim that only seven million will die are talking nonsense.

He made the declaration at a "friendly rally" in the Kremlin for Romanian Communist party boss Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej who has been visiting the Soviet Union since July 31.

Called It Propaganda

Khrushchev said talk about low casualty figures is imperialist propaganda to prevent the Soviet Union from taking action on the German question. He reiterated his intention of signing a peace treaty with East Germany.

"We shall, of course," Khrushchev said, "sign a peace treaty with Germany."

He shouted that "lies and shouts" on the part of the West will not stop the Soviet Union. For example, he said, the roars of the British lion no longer frighten anyone.

Little Power, He Says

The imperialists, he said, have "short hands"—a Russian expression for somebody who has very little power.

Khrushchev said the laws of war are "terribly cruel" and then mentioned the recent visit to the Soviet Union by Premier Amintore Fanfani of Italy. He said he asked Fanfani where the North Atlantic Treaty Organization rocket bases were located in Italy and, according to Khrushchev, got the reply that they were located in orange orchards.

Would Bomb Italy

Khrushchev said the Soviet people like Italian oranges but that if war came and Italy is "pushed" against the Soviet Union, he would not hesitate to send rockets raining.

Plan Mardi Gras, Parade as Esopus Anniversary Event

Plans for a parade and mardi gras in Port Ewen on Saturday, Aug. 19, as part of the Town of Esopus Sesquicentennial celebration were announced today.

The event is expected to be one of the special activities of the 150th anniversary of the Town of Esopus. The affair is being sponsored by the Port Ewen Business Men's Association.

It is planned to start the event with a parade through the streets of Port Ewen in the late afternoon. Included in the parade will be floats, costumed marchers, music and members of various organizations in the town. Port Ewen Business Men

He Used Parachute

Titov Says Space Ship Landed on Earth Itself

MOSCOW (AP)— Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov said today he was ejected from his space ship at the end of his epic 25-hour orbital flight and parachuted to earth.

The second Soviet spaceman told a jammed news conference his spaceship Vostok II came down separately by parachute "but if the need had arisen, I could have landed it myself."

Titov said there were two landing systems available—either to remain in the space ship and parachute down with it or to descend separately. He said he had permission to use either system.

"I felt well and decided to test the second landing system," he said.

The ship landed safely nearby, he added.

No Ill Effects

The space flier said he experienced no ill effects—from the acceleration forces, noise and vibration of the takeoff, from the prolonged weightlessness or from the transition from weightlessness near the end of his 17 trips around the globe.

Titov said after landing neither he nor medical experts could detect any changes in his physical organism.

The self-assured young major reported one variation from normal. He said he wasn't hungry for his first two meals although he ate them on schedule.

"Frankly speaking I had no particular appetite," the 26-year-old cosmonaut said. "This was probably due to the sustained weightlessness and excitement." Titov spoke at a news conference held at Moscow University for more than 1,500 Soviet and foreign newsmen, scientists and diplomats.

Mstislav Keldysh, president of the Soviet academy of sciences, introduced the Soviet Union's new space hero and said his 25-hour flight had produced a wealth of scientific information that will be published and shared with scientists all over the world.

The flight, Keldysh added, opened the way for manned flight "to Mars, the Moon, Venus, and even further into the depths of the universe."

Will Watch in Future

Keldysh said foreign newsmen will be permitted to watch launchings of Soviet space ships in the future but gave no indication when this would happen.

"You realize carrier rockets are not only peaceful instruments, and if the Americans had such advanced carrier rockets you can be sure they wouldn't be showing them either," he said.

The Soviet academician said Titov had demonstrated that a human pilot is able to control his space ship manually, make scientific observations and land his craft on any spot on earth.

Titov told the newsmen he re-

Further Action Is Under Way for State Park Here

Further preliminary effort toward fulfillment of the city's bid for a state-sponsored park site in the Kingston Point area is in progress, Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today.

State officials have asked, he said, for impartial appraisals of lands involved, and the city has been asked to negotiate for outright purchase of Kingston Point waterfront and beach sites.

The city, to date, has gained the requested appraisal of some 25 acres of land in the area by Bernard Wolper, of New York, but it has not yet obtained that on a larger acreage owned by the New York Central Railroad.

Discussed in 1958

State legislation last year opened the way for cities, towns and counties to apply for assistance. Proposed development of the area was discussed by local and state officials in 1958.

It is planned to fill lower sections of Kingston Point land with silt from dredging of the Hudson when the dredges are active in the area. They are now working in the Castleton, area of the river and are expected soon to start dredging between Germantown and Kingston.

Foreign Ministers of Soviet Bloc Are To Meet in Fall on E. German Treaty

BERLIN (AP)— Foreign ministers of the Soviet bloc will hold a conference in the late fall to prepare a peace treaty with Germany, East German Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz announced today.

Bolz' announcement to a special session of the East German Parliament referred to the treaty with both West and East Germany which Soviet Premier Khrushchev has demanded. Khrushchev has said repeatedly he would sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany if the Western allies do not agree to an all-German treaty.

Working on It Now

Bolz said negotiations on the peace treaty are already under way.

East Germany's rubber-stamp Parliament was called into session to study measures to stop the steady flow of refugees from East Germany into West Berlin. In the West fears were voiced further Red repression of the East Germans would result in an explosion.

Near Boiling Point

"The mood in the (East) zone is near boiling point," the inde-

pending West Berlin Morgenpost said editorially. "If the safety valve provided by Berlin is shut, it can come to an explosion."

Amid the twin threats of revolt in East Germany and an East-West clash over West Berlin, the Soviet Union sent Marshal Ivan S. Konev, former military commander of the Warsaw Pact and one of the top Soviet soldiers, to command its forces drawn up against the West in Germany.

Bolz said the conference of the East bloc foreign ministers would study the results of negotiations on the peace pact and decide on further measures. He said that negotiations already held had produced results.

Bolz did not say where the conference would be held.

To Handle Tense Situation

Konev's appointment as commander in chief of Soviet forces in East Germany was disclosed as East German Communist chief Walter Ulbricht, just back from Moscow, called for Soviet aid in the defense of East Germany's borders and new moves to stem the rising flood of refugees escaping to the West.

Konev's appointment underlined the mounting East-West tension in the struggle over divided Berlin. It was announced just three days after Soviet Premier Khrushchev threatened to mobilize Soviet reserves.

Konev succeeds Col. Gen. Ivan I. Yakubovskii, who held the command more than a year. There was no word on what happened to him.

Important General

Konev, 62, has long been a top Soviet general and an important Communist party functionary.

The barrel-chested marshal, a peasant who worked as a lumberjack before he joined the Communist party and the Soviet army in 1918, first won fame in the war against Finland in 1939-40.

After a distinguished career against the German armies in World War II, he served as a deputy defense minister and headed the tribunal that sent Lavrenty P. Beria, chief of the Soviet secret police, to death.

Konev commanded Soviet and East European satellite forces in the Warsaw Pact, the Communist counterpart of NATO, for five years until July 24, 1960. An announcement then said he had been relieved at his own request. He has been out of the public eye since then.

Report Ransom Paid To Free Mission Aids

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Belgian working for the U.S. aid mission and a Frenchman with the French aid program were captured and held, about 25 miles northwest of Saigon, for ransom recently by armed men who said they were Viet Cong Communists.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said today Andre J. Peerot, the Belgian soil professor under contract to the American aid mission, and Morris Schindler, the French agricultural technician were freed after paying 60,000 piastres (about $830) ransom.

Titov Says . . .

garded his historic flight round and round the earth as "something natural," that it did not seem like anything extraordinary because he had trained so thoroughly for it.

He said his training as a fighter pilot had been most important in preparing him for his space assignment and that he was morally inspired to carry out his task by love of country and the Soviet people.

Gives Detailed Account

Going into a detailed account of his flight from the moment he blasted off at 9 a.m. Aug. 6, Titov said that he experienced no ill effects from the acceleration forces, noise and vibration of the takeoff. Once in space, he continued, the cabin of his spaceship Vostok II was flooded with sunlight and he could see the bright, sunlit surface of the earth and at the same time the stars—"clear and bright points on a black background."

Both his instruments and information transmitted from earth confirmed that he was in the predetermined orbit, he said.

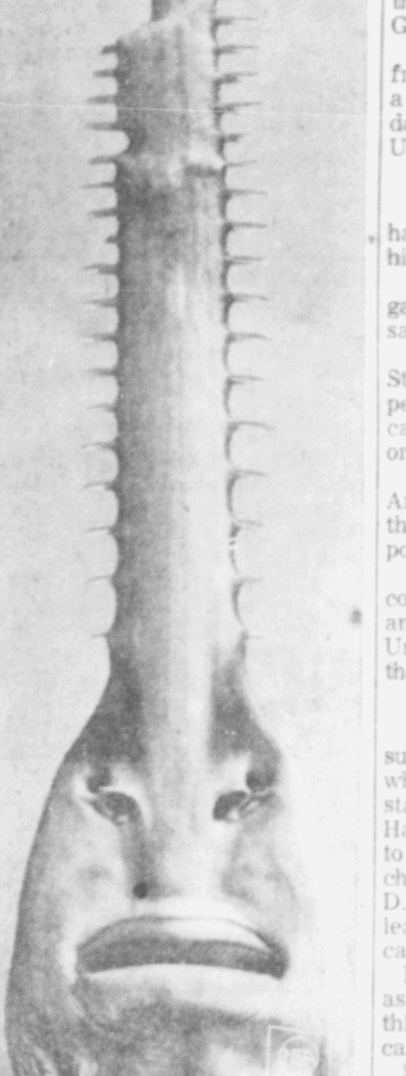

At 10 a.m., an hour after blast-off, Titov said, he switched to manual control of the ship. He said he had complete control over the craft, could orient it in any direction and could send it on any course he desired.

He next used the manual control in his seventh orbit, Titov said.

Throughout the flight "reliable communication with the ground" was maintained on short wave and ultra short wave radio.

Even at his farthest point from earth he established contact with the ground with no difficulty, he said.

He said his radio apparatus also picked up ordinary longwave radio broadcasts from stations all over the world.

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, smart operator though he is, must have been hard pressed to know just what day of the week it was during his flight around the world.

His whizzing capsule played hop-scotch with the earth's time during the 25-hour flight — with Sunday becoming Saturday beneath Titov, then Sunday again, then Monday, then back to Sunday again, and finally, Monday once more for Titov's triumphant homecoming in the Soviet Union.

These seeming tricks of time are due to the fact that in his 18,000 m.p.h., 17-orbit flight starting last Sunday at 9 a.m. Moscow time, Titov crossed both the international dateline plus the earth's imaginary "Midnight Meridian" 17 times.

So says Wellman Chamberlain of the National Geographic Society, who has compiled a unique log of Titov's flight, utilizing a special world globe equipped with measuring tools to enable users to plot graphically the courses of satellites and rockets.

Chamberlain said that in terms of the "local times" for different parts of the earth crossed by the orbit of the Vostok II spaceship, Titov:

1. During both of his first two 88-minute whirls around the world figuratively flew back into Saturday, the day before he left, but quickly got back into Sunday each time.

2. During the rest of his trip, he periodically flew from Sunday into Monday and back again—though finally winding up in Moscow on Monday.

3. If he had stayed aloft another seven hours, he would have run into Tuesday over part of the world, though still landing in the Soviet Union on Monday.

The factors involved in these gymnastics of time and Titov are these:

1. The International Dateline—that's the meridian extending essentially from pole to pole across the Pacific Ocean. When you cross it, going west to east in a ship, an airplane or a spaceship, you "lose a day."

2. The "Midnight Meridian"—an imaginary semicircle in the heavens which determines local midnight for the particular parts of the earth passing beneath it as the planet constantly rotates in a west-to-east direction. Thus, when you pass it, going in the right direction, you "gain a day."

Hundreds of . . .

ing on the orange orchards of Italy.

He said the same thing would happen to other small countries that harbor NATO bases, such as Greece and Norway.

The Soviet premier departed from his notes and launched into a table-thumping display of disdain and ridicule directed at the United States.

President Kennedy, he said, is having a difficult time reassessing his nation's values.

"There, a person may be a beggar or king as he chooses," he said.

Khrushchev said the United States is "accustomed to have people speak to them with downcast eyes—fastened on their shoes or trousers."

He said this was because the Americans had gotten used to thinking of themselves as the most powerful nation on earth.

"But we too are a powerful country," Khrushchev continued and demanded respect from the United States for "his majesty, the working class."

Demands Apology
He harked back to the Paris summit conference of May 1960, which broke down before it got started, and said Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain tried to make peace between Khrushchev and then President Dwight D. Eisenhower after the Soviet leader demanded an apology because of the U2 spy plane incident.

Khrushchev quoted Macmillan as saying: "You must understand this is a powerful country and you cannot expect them to apologize."

Sharply striking the speaker's rostrum, Khrushchev said he replied: "We too are a great country and we demand an apology when we are insulted."

Claims Its Recognition
Khrushchev made it clear that at stake in the Berlin crisis is the question of Western recognition of Soviet prestige and power. The Soviet leader emphasized this point by shaking his fist and shouting unrestrainedly to his delighted audience.

He again appealed for negotiations to bring a German peace treaty, repeating his assurances that people of West Berlin would not be disturbed and that access to the city by Western countries would be guaranteed.

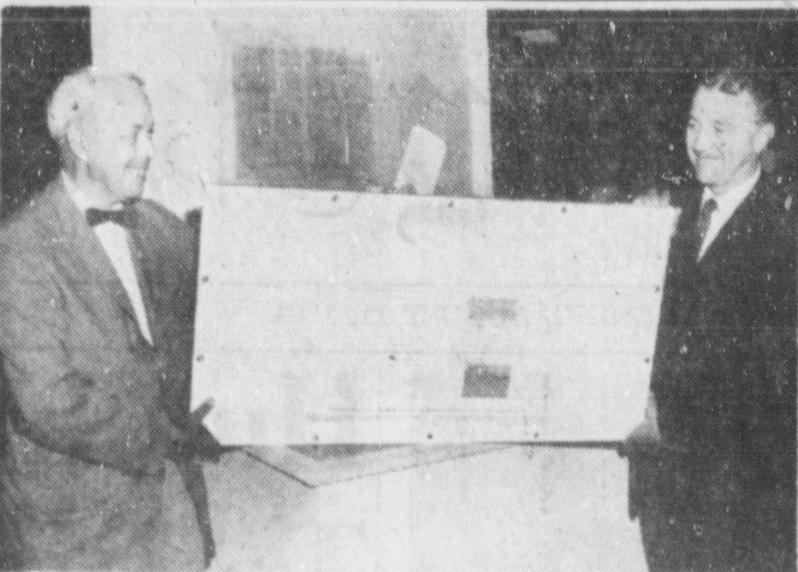

He said that if the West would not participate, "We will be forced to sign a peace treaty without them."

"Let's not threaten, let's not do things which widen the gap between us, let's sit down at the table and discuss things quietly," he said.

"Today I read about President Kennedy's press conference. He said he hoped to achieve a peaceable solution. Such a statement we hail. Toward that the efforts of the Soviet Union are directed."

"We believe that common sense will win. We hope the Western powers will decide that the conclusion of a peace treaty will bring better results than sabre rattling or playing with fire."

The United Nations became an official organization on Oct. 24, 1945.

Unidentified Man Jumps Into River From N-B Ferry

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP) — An unidentified man jumped, apparently to his death, into the Hudson River today during a crossing of the Newburgh-to-Beacon ferry.

The captain of the ferryboat "Beacon," Alexander Forsythe, told police that the man, about 52 years old, boarded the 7:15 a.m. ferry at Newburgh. About 200 feet from shore, the man rushed from the passenger cabin, opened the stern gate, and plunged into the river.

Passengers sounded an alarm. The ferry stopped, searched for 30 minutes and then proceeded to Beacon.

Small boats continued the search.

Turns Self In Will Quiz Former Seaman About Death of Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — A former seaman has surrendered to The Journal-American with a story that he killed a woman in Buffalo shortly after World War II and molested many children.

The man, who identified himself as Donald Arthur Snell, 40, has been taken to Buffalo by detectives from that city for questioning.

They hope to determine whether there is any connection between his story and the death of Barbara Kirchgessner, 34, whose body was found near Cazenovia Creek there on Sept. 13, 1947.

The Journal-American quoted Snell as saying:

"Help me before I kill again. I killed one woman and I molested more children than I could count. It's driven me to drink. It haunts me."

"Honest to God, I need help." The newspaper quoted him as saying he had "picked this girl up in the Glass Bar in Buffalo shortly after World War II," got into a fight with her later in an automobile, and "I pushed her out of the car and shoved her toward Cazenovia Creek."

He was quoted further as saying he frequented movie theaters on Buffalo's south side in search of children to molest.

Thompson Joins Talks on Action In Berlin Crisis
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, U.S. envoy to Moscow, joined Kennedy administration consultations today on moves which the United States and its allies may make in the increasingly grave Berlin crisis.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, returning to Washington Thursday night upon the conclusion of Allied strategy talks in Western Europe, brought Thompson with him.

President Kennedy called Rusk to the White House at noon for a report on his meetings with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany, and the government chiefs of West Germany and Italy—Konrad Adenauer and Amintore Fanfani.

State Department officials said that Thompson came to Washington for consultation for a few days, after which he will return to Europe.

Early Action Is Expected in House On Plane Thefts
WASHINGTON (AP) — Early House action is expected on a Senate-passed bill making future airplane hijacking a federal crime carrying a maximum penalty of death.

The measure shot through the Senate, 92 to 0, Thursday in a swift sequel to the pirating of a jet airliner over Mexico Wednesday. The House Commerce Committee is readying a similar bill for possible action by the House next week.

Before passing the bill, the Senate increased the maximum penalty from life imprisonment to death. The minimum penalty is 20 years in jail.

Hearing Is Today On Control Gates At Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — The International Joint Commission opens a public hearing today on requests for more water control gates above Niagara Falls.

The applications have aroused concern that the gates may lower the level of the Niagara River and mar the beauty of the famous cataract.

The Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission and the New York State Power Authority are asking permission to build five additional control gates in the international control structure.

Mayor Franklin J. Miller said earlier this week that, if the gates mean diverting more water from the river and possibly endangering the beauty of the falls, the city should oppose the applications.

In a statement Thursday, Robert Moses, chairman of the New York authority, declared the extra gates would not mean more water diversion.

He said the additions to the control dam structure required under the 1950 treaty between Canada and the United States for development of hydroelectric power on the Niagara Frontier.

Moses said the gates are needed to alleviate winter ice conditions that hamper power production.

Capt. Lawrence McGinn, Canadian manager of the Maid of the Mist Steamboat Co. that runs tourist excursion boats at the base of the falls, said the firm's two vessels are partially beached at night when power plants along the river divert water.

There is enough water in the morning when the plants lower the rate of diversion, McGinn said, but he warned the company again might have to blast a deeper channel for the boats if water diversion continues.

He said the river is now about 15 feet below the level of 1966. The company dynamited the river bed that year after the new Sir Adam Beck generating station No. 2 started diverting water.

Fallout Shelter Dedication Is Saturday at 10

The fallout shelter built by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Kingston Ulster County Civil Defense Unit will be dedicated at Forsyth Park Saturday at 10 a. m.

Labor for building the shelter was furnished by the Ulster County Building Trades Council and material was furnished by building concerns and other merchants including two not recorded on the last list of donors, United Cut Rate Pharmacy and trucker Mike Perry.

Chairman Emil Buhler of Operation Survival Committee from the Jaycees hopes there will be a large number visiting the shelter after the dedication.

Principals participating in the ceremony will be Mayor Edwin F. Radel, Major H. Edgar Timmerman, county civil defense director; Alderman John Heitzman and Supervisors James Martin of the 12th Ward and Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, supervisor of the Recreation Department.

Thompson Joins Talks on Action In Berlin Crisis
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, U.S. envoy to Moscow, joined Kennedy administration consultations today on moves which the United States and its allies may make in the increasingly grave Berlin crisis.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, returning to Washington Thursday night upon the conclusion of Allied strategy talks in Western Europe, brought Thompson with him.

President Kennedy called Rusk to the White House at noon for a report on his meetings with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany, and the government chiefs of West Germany and Italy—Konrad Adenauer and Amintore Fanfani.

State Department officials said that Thompson came to Washington for consultation for a few days, after which he will return to Europe.

Early Action Is Expected in House On Plane Thefts
WASHINGTON (AP) — Early House action is expected on a Senate-passed bill making future airplane hijacking a federal crime carrying a maximum penalty of death.

The measure shot through the Senate, 92 to 0, Thursday in a swift sequel to the pirating of a jet airliner over Mexico Wednesday. The House Commerce Committee is readying a similar bill for possible action by the House next week.

Before passing the bill, the Senate increased the maximum penalty from life imprisonment to death. The minimum penalty is 20 years in jail.

Inheritance Can Ruin as Well as Enhance One

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If you have not inherited any money lately, count yourself lucky.

You may be better off. Most of us tend to think the other way. Few of us shrink in horror from the prospect of being enriched by the passing of a distant relative or, for that matter, a total stranger.

It is a heartwarming hope to us all that somewhere, somehow, someone has mentioned us favorably—and remembered us financially—in his will, and that in the fullness of time the money will drop from the sky like a ripe plum. Even orphans, gypsies and Bowery bums cling fondly to this hope.

We all have the idea, too, that an unexpected inheritance would in some mysterious way solve all our problems and cure our present defects of character.

But would it, really? Actually, inherited money is just as likely to ruin as to enhance the character of its recipient.

Let me cite the terrifying experience of a friend of mine whose wife received a letter from a lawyer notifying her she had inherited a small bequest from a relative. The letter contained a form for her to sign.

"At first I was tremendously pleased," said my friend. "Then I got suspicious. 'Sign nothing,' I told my wife. 'We'll hire our own lawyer.'"

"My whole nature had changed at the mere possibility of inheriting money."

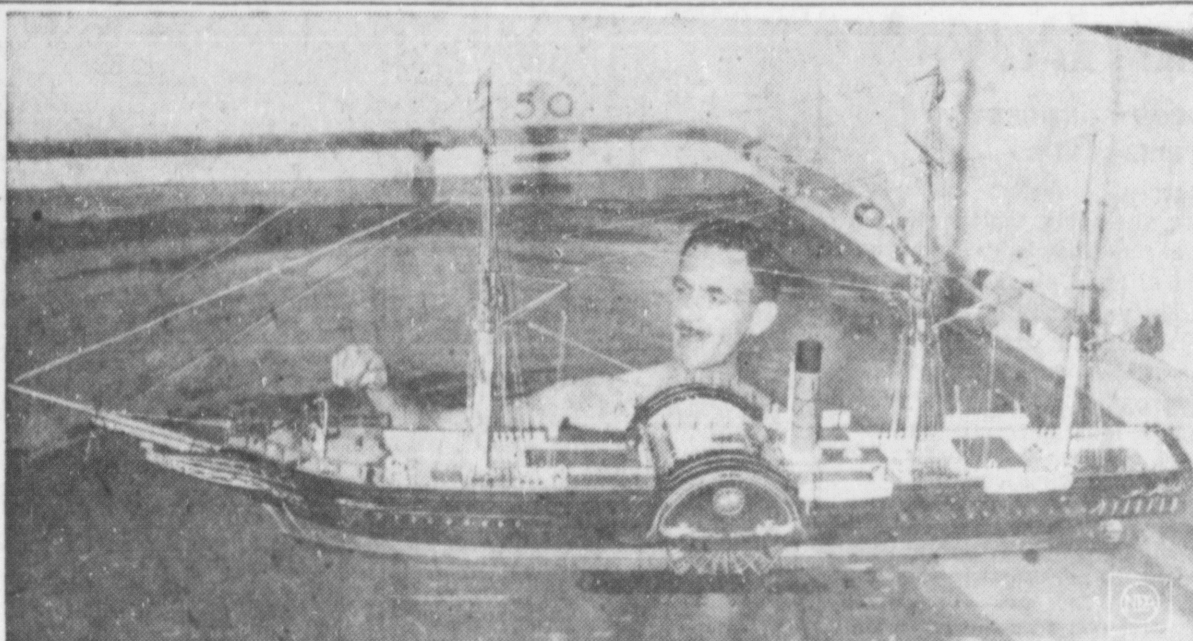

"I hired a lawyer and sent him out West to investigate the situation. Each night I tossed sleepless in my bed, wondering how wealthy we'd be. I grew greedier and greedier and greedier."

"I tell you I was a greedy, grasping physical wreck when our lawyer finally returned after the estate was settled."

"How much did you get?" "Well, after paying off our lawyer," my friend replied, "My wife and I found we were out exactly $137.42."

"But I learned a good lesson: Beware the possibility of inheriting money. It not only can destroy your character—it also can cost you dough!"

So the next time anyone tells you you've inherited a million dollars, back away fast. It could ruin your whole life! Earn your own living and stay normal.

Robert Horton Is Winding Up His Wagon Train Role

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When a successful TV series star begins to beat about boredom and the fear of type-casting, he probably wants more money.

At least, the symptoms usually disappear the moment he gets a better contract or a piece of the show.

Thus, when "Wagon Train's" co-star, Robert Horton, started to make the usual throaty growls last season, nobody took him quite seriously. They tried the usual antidotes, including a share of the show. But Horton surprised them.

"I think five years in one role is enough," Horton said Thursday between scenes on the "Wagon Train" set. "I've done lots of other things outside the show, so that type-casting isn't my problem. I just think that there are other roles to be done, and other roles I'm interested in playing."

"But I'm not unhappy about 'Wagon Train.' I wasn't a Western actor and I was thrown against Ward Bond, the epitome of the Western actor, in this series. I consider that I was able to develop an interesting and different character in it. But now I have other things to do—and I turned down part ownership of the show to do them."

So this will be, honest and truly, the last year of scouting for Flint McCullough. And if the wheels keep turning for a 1962-63 season, the train's chief scout will be a character called Duke Shannon. Scott Miller, blond, 6 feet four and a basketball star at the University of California at Los Angeles, has already been chosen for the part. This season, Horton's last, Miller is being groomed to leap into the empty saddle.

Last year Scott had seven or eight minor roles in the series. So far he has played bigger parts in six of the seven "Wagon Trains" which have been finished to date.

Three old TV pros seem to be playing a secret game in full view of the audience: it was the Jimmy Durante special on NBC Wednesday night, and Jimmy, Bob Hope and Garry Moore were apparently more interested in breaking each other up than in entertaining the folks at home.

The sketches were ragged. Inexplicable laughter muffled the lines, if any, and the whole show looked as if it were an early rehearsal telecast by mistake. Not even the witticisms of writer Goodman Ace and his doughty crew of jokesmiths were able to surface often through the intramural jokes.

Well, what do you expect in summer? A regular Perry Como show?

Exam for Chichester Postmaster Scheduled

Applications for examination for postmaster at Chichester may be submitted until August 29, the U. S. Civil Service Commission announced this week.

The post at the third class post office, pays $4,605 per year. Information and applications are available at the post office or from the commission, Washington, D. C. and must be received or postmarked not later than the closing date.

Mrs. Nellie Johnson has been serving as acting postmistress for over two years. She accepted the post when Miss Helen Bennett retired in January 1959. The post office is located in the Bush Store at Chichester.

Children Take Dads' Place on Picket Line

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Eight boys and two girls manned picket lines for their fathers Thursday at a struck paper-manufacturing plant.

The children, aged 9 to 12, carried signs reading:

"They've taken away our clam-bakes, picnics and Christmas, and now they've taken away our fathers' seniority rights."

The plant of Finch, Pruyn & Co. was closed July 19 after six local unions struck in a dispute, mainly over seniority rights. The locals represent 350 workers.

A union spokesman said the company dropped sponsorship three years ago of clam-bakes, picnics and Christmas parties.

Seniority as the main consideration in promotions would be eliminated under the company's version of a proposed contract, the unions contend.

Negotiations on a new contract have been at a stalemate, mediators report.

Held for Murder Of Syracuse Taxi Cab Driver

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Garry B. Rhinehart was held today on a charge of first-degree murder in the shooting of a Syracuse taxi driver he had hired to drive him here.

State Police said Rhinehart, a 28-year-old lift-truck operator from Syracuse, admitted emptying his .22-caliber pistol at Frank F. Coolidge from the rear seat as Coolidge drove along a lonely dirt road used as a lovers' lane.

The slaying occurred Wednesday night near here after, troopers said, Rhinehart had stopped at several taverns in Syracuse.

Rhinehart gave no motive, troopers said. Coolidge apparently was not robbed, they said.

At least seven of the nine shots fired struck the driver, troopers said.

The cab was smashed against a tree and Coolidge's death at first was believed to have resulted from the crash.

Rhinehart was committed to Oswego County jail to await grand jury action after he waived preliminary examination Thursday.

Syracuse police said Rhinehart told them Thursday he had lost a pistol in a cab he had taken in Syracuse for Oswego, where he had planned to sell the weapon.

Troopers quoted Rhinehart as saying he reloaded the pistol after leaving the cab and hitchhiked back to Syracuse.

Troopers found the weapon a mile-and-a-half from the wrecked cab.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON DISCUSSES TEEN-AGERS AND BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Aug. 11—Most people have not been giving enough serious thought to the relationship of teen-agers to business. Too often teen-agers are looked upon as a nuisance, and many of us sort of hold our breath waiting until they grow up and have learned to take care of themselves. A study of population statistics shows, however, that we have been wrong in taking this attitude.

What Population Figures Show

I have divided the census figures into three groups: first, the "teen-age" group, between 15 and 24; second, the productive group, between 25 and 55; and third, the older-age group. To my surprise I find that the teen-age group has increased 50 per cent since the previous census. The older-age group has increased 25 per cent. However, those between the ages of 25 and 55, who are earning money by producing goods and services, have just about held their own.

The bulge in the teen-age segment has far-reaching effects upon business. Also, more teen-agers today are seeking higher education after graduation from high school than ever before. For young people in this group, any income earned is likely to be small; but their needs are enormous. Hence, the longer period spent in classrooms places a heavier burden upon parents who are footing the bills.

What Teen-Agers Are Buying

What teen-agers are buying the most is food. Teen-agers are the profit makers for supermarkets. They buy more goods, get their parents to buy more, and they buy things which are attractively and conveniently packaged and pre-cooked. In short, they are highly susceptible to "impulse buying," and very responsive to the forces of advertising, fashions, and fads. The fast pace of youthful life, together with the generous allowances which parents today give to their children, are proving to be a boon to "snack" shops, ice cream parlors, and confectionery stores.

Next to food, I would say that clothing lines are profiting most from the teen-age group. Young people like to dress up and look attractive. They spend considerable money on clothing, at least until they get married. Therefore, the department stores and chain stores which handle inexpensive lines of clothing are profiting. It follows that beauty parlors, barber shops and manufacturers and distributors of cosmetics also derive a big chunk of business from this segment of the population. Doctors and dentists, firms engaged in medical and dental supplies, and drug stores also are profiting from the desire of teenagers to look and feel well.

Teenagers Help Other Industries

In studying my grandchildren, I would judge that telephone companies also benefit greatly. When I was young, few households had a telephone, and those that did used it largely for emergencies. Today, teenagers think nothing of calling a friend some distance away on a rainy day for want of something to do. In fact, I am told that the principal users are the teenagers.

Since the newly aroused interest in science education, school committees are spending more money on textbooks and equipment. This also applies to school buildings and, unfortunately, to competitive school athletic tournaments. Certainly, the large universities have made a great error in building huge stadiums which put competitive athletics ahead of studies.

Effect Upon Investments

As my column is read mostly by small investors, they should try to use their savings to the best advantage by considering the effect of teen-agers in connection with their investments. The economy would experience continued husky demand from teenagers for several years more.

Industries are not faring so well at the hands of teen-agers. For example young investors just entering the market regard railroad securities as "out-of-date." A railroad president attributes the railroad and bus passenger service deficits to the fact that "teenagers insist on going everywhere by automobile." Some railroads are selling old steam locomotives to museums to show future generations what they looked like!

TRAGEDY OF RED PROPAGANDA

We may imagine we understand very well how sweeping is the Communist propaganda effort engineered by Moscow and Peking. Yet the real extent of it can still provide a shock.

Here, for instance, is a practice question from a Red Chinese schoolboy's arithmetic book:

"In the United States the number of half-starved people is twice the number of the unemployed, and is five million less than the number of people who have to live in slums. As one half of the number of the slum dwellers is 11.5 million, what is the number of the unemployed in the United States?"

The deep tragedy in this is not so much that the United States is being maligned as it is that growing numbers of young Chinese are being fed these and countless other cruel distortions in the course of perhaps the most massive educational uplift ever attempted in human history.

William Benton, onetime U.S. senator and now publisher of the Encyclopedia Britannica, reports on this effort in a Saturday Review article detailing the findings of a special task force under Britannica auspices.

Twelve years ago, at the moment of Red triumph in China, the mainland had 350,000 schools serving some 25 million peoples. Today, with its population of 700 million, the number of schools is one million and enrollment a staggering 108 million.

For contrast, latest figures for the United States show us with around 145,000 schools serving roughly 40 million students at all levels. Our 40 per cent enrollment rise this past 10 years in the colleges, viewed here as amazing, must be set beside a 500 per cent gain in Red China.

On top of this, Peiping has mounted a huge war on illiteracy. People able to read and write now comprise half the population, compared with only a fifth 12 years ago. Adult education goes forward on unprecedented scale, in factories, basements, kitchens, barns, under the open sky itself.

No such enterprise could be managed without strain, dislocation, major flaw. Whole schools have been uprooted and moved about. Children are shifted from familiar setting to remote province like pawns. Teachers and facilities are woefully short. Many teachers are abused and made to do the work of menial servants.

The worst aspect of Peiping's effort remains, however, that it serves warped, limited goals. The product is not to be good men, good and well-rounded Chinese, but narrow specialists who are at best good Chinese Communists.

Peiping's "gain" is thus a sad waste of humanity's substance.

After a man gets to where old acquaintances boast of having known him when, he may start worrying about how much they remember.

Some speakers take so long to drive home a point that listeners begin preparing to drive home.

HERE'S HAM IN YOUR EYE

Washingtonese is the special language of government, characterized by excessive technicality, wordiness, a stiffness sometimes yielding unintended humor.

As an example, a recent release from the Agriculture Department began: "Committee to Review Moisture in Ham Question."

You have to admit that sounds funny, even though a housewife with a squinty ham on her hands may not see the joke.

The experts are going to see whether a late 1960 department order allowing packers to add 10 per cent water to uncooked hams is reasonable or not. Maybe they'll come up with some simple test like this: "If you stick a fork in the ham and get squirted in the eye, the water content is too high."

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
INTELLIGENCE

Every nation engages in various methods of gathering intelligence, including espionage. Intelligence is knowledge and knowledge is hard to come by. A President of the United States should be informed accurately and minutely concerning the particulars of events and personalities. For this purpose, information comes from many sources. Some is true; most is false to a degree because human beings and governments have motives or are biased or even opinionated. The problem then is to evaluate what comes in.

Evaluation is difficult for several reasons:
1. The evaluator must know the subject minutely and must have sufficient background and sound use of judgment to distinguish the true, the possible, the probable, the false. This, every competent newspaper reporter must do every day or he would find himself in difficulties, including libel suits. In the Cuban fiasco, it is obvious that the CIA and the Joint Chiefs-of-Staff evaluators were not capable of separating the wheat from the chaff. It is clear, beyond doubt, that President Kennedy was not adequately and accurately informed concerning the situation in Cuba or among the refugee groups in New York and Miami because of poor evaluation of information provided to him by the CIA or the Joint Chiefs-of-Staff or the State Department.

2. Evaluation is a technique which requires rigid adherence to a system from which there must be no deviation because of personal responses to data or individuals. A police organization, like the FBI, never discards information and does not evaluate data as true or false until it has to be used. Therefore, the FBI has always opposed making their green files available to outside eyes. These files contain raw, unprocessed information some of which may be wholly untrue but none of which is discarded because untruthful data may serve as sure leads to correct information. Under such circumstances the evaluator may come to a file that seems unrelated to the subject under consideration. Yet, it leads him to a conclusion and an arrest.

3. Political information is more difficult to evaluate than criminal information. A criminal may leave fingerprints; a politician may leave no footprints on the sands of time. Governments are defensive liars even to their own people. No government therefore may be trusted with regard to data without specialized evaluation based upon keen knowledge of policy, of history, of the relationship between one government and another.
4. All information has to do with words and words have different meanings and different values among different peoples. For instance, when Presidents Roosevelt and Truman spoke to Stalin about democracy, they really meant government by choice as stated in the Declaration of Independence. Government by choice makes this a representative republic in which the people select the government by direct franchise and freely discuss its policies.

Stalin could not understand that, Khrushchev does not understand that. Government to them is something very distinct from the people. In fact, they speak in official communications of "the people," "the masses," "the workers and government and people." While their social and economic ideals are a Leninist structure remains skin to that of Ivan the Terrible. To Roosevelt and Truman, democracy meant the right of the people to control their government; to Stalin, the government was an instrument of power under the tutelage of those who control a political party which chooses the government.

Whereas we refer to their rulers as dictators, they refer to ours as monopolists. Actually, it is easier for us to understand the Soviet concept than it is for them to understand ours which seems to them chaotic and confused.

The evaluator of data from such a country has to understand the essential difference in words. For instance, Communists, throughout the world, use what have come to be called Aesopian terminology. If that it what they choose to use, an evaluator must become totally conversant with their terminology. If he says that there is no such thing as different meanings for identical words, he is not an efficient evaluator; he is more likely to be an opinionated fool who will misinterpret and misinterpret.

I have used Stalin rather than Khrushchev or Nehru or Castro or even General de Gaulle as a symbol of possible misinterpretation because of linguistic misconceptions. Intelligence must take everything into account; even casual gossip which can lead to the most important clues. The disclaimer is a menace to accuracy.

Check With Doctor About
Premature Baby Injury

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My baby was a premature and had to be placed in an incubator right after birth. When I first saw her, I was sure she was perfectly normal. I am positive I saw her move both legs as babies do. But when I got her home, she was unable to move her left leg.

I don't know what could have happened to her. I don't care so long as she isn't going to be lame all her life. Is there anything I can do right now to save her from being a cripple?

A. Prematures are very susceptible to infection and it is the custom in most hospitals to protect them with injections of antibiotics. When these injections are given in the buttocks, there is a chance of injuring a branch of the sciatic nerve.

This could be what happened to your baby. In a recent report from a Cleveland hospital, satisfactory recovery was noted in 9 of 10 children who suffered this unfortunate accident.

If you have not already done so before publication of this response, you should consult an orthopedic surgeon immediately, for recovery will be speeded and perhaps assured by skillful use of splints and perhaps surgery.

Actually neither galeophyllia nor galeophyllia is a sickness in itself. Each is really a surface symptom of some much more profound personality or nervous disorder. So long as neither seriously disrupts the subject or the subjects household, it may be accepted as any other harmless quirk such as each of us exhibits at one time or another.

However, when either becomes a threat to normal living, as in the case of your grandmother, mother and sister, very expert investigation and care by an experienced psychiatrist merits sober consideration.

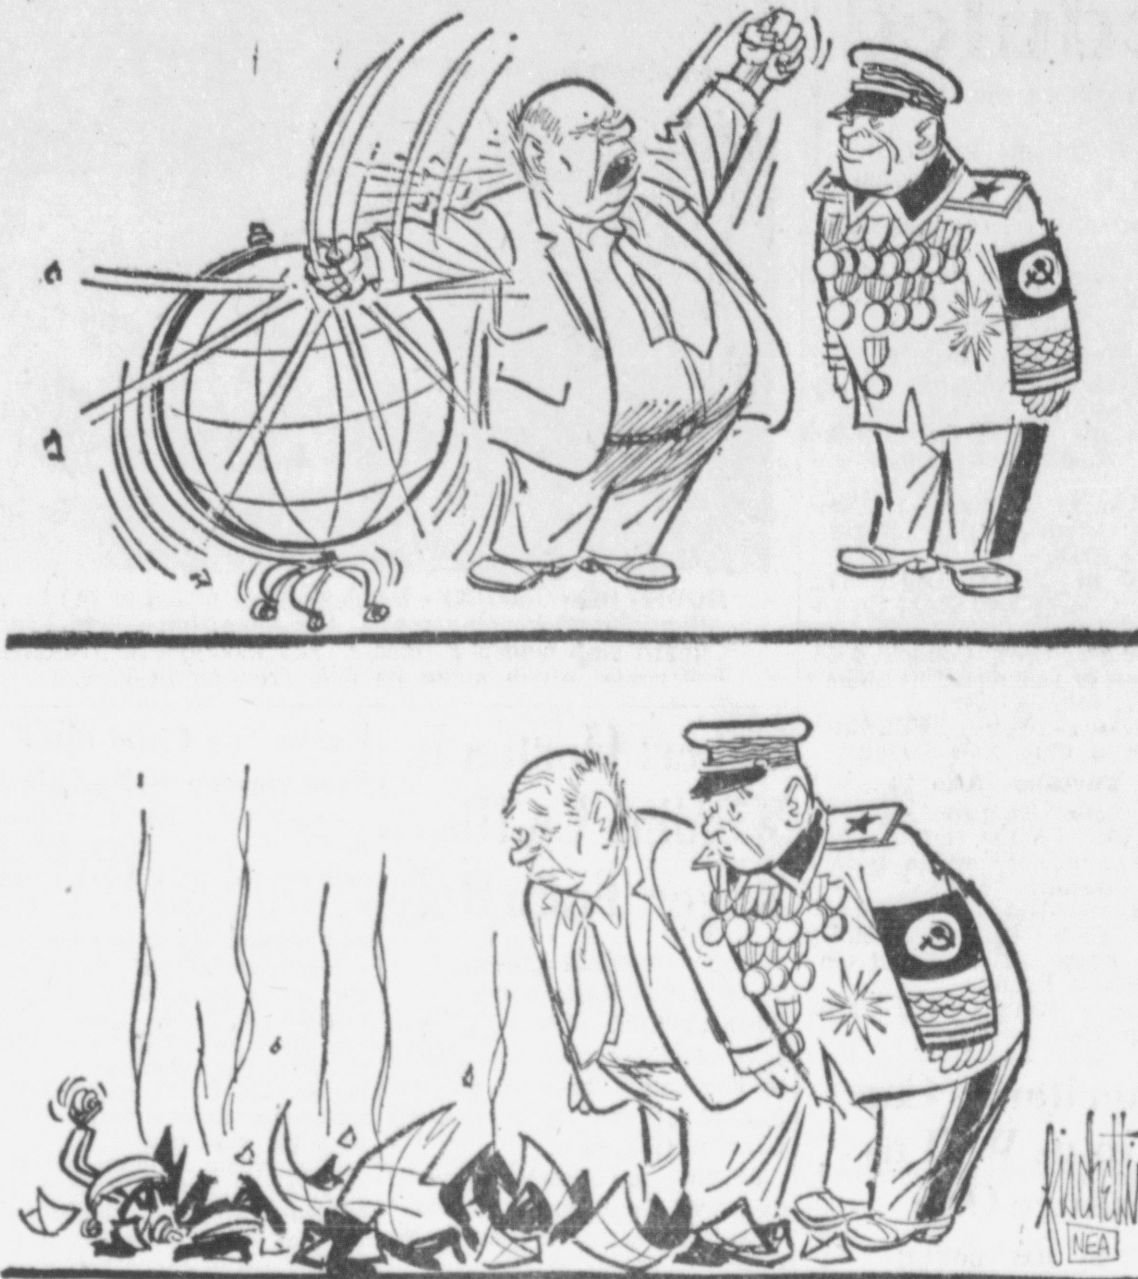

Unfortunately, this type of treatment is apt to be protracted and expensive, even if it is obtainable. And, even more unfortunately, the results may not be very satisfactory.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Federal aid to education isn't dead yet, even though it was buried alive by the House Rules Committee.

There is little chance that President Kennedy's entire $2.5 billion program will be enacted. Parts of it are likely to get by. They will be the next order of big business in Congress after the foreign aid authorization is out of the way.

Various parliamentary devices will have to be used. The basic aid to education bill in the House is H.R. 7300, introduced by Rep. Frank Thompson (D-N. J.). It has been approved by House Education and Labor Committee.

On the next free "Calendar Wednesday," Chairman Adam Clayton Powell (D-N. Y.) could ask for consideration of the Thompson bill even though it has not been cleared by the House Rules Committee. If the bill does get to the floor, there is no telling what will happen to it in the always unpredictable House of Representatives.

REP. POWELL ALSO HAS

TALKED OF introducing a substitute bill, eliminating some of the more controversial features to make it more acceptable to the House.

An effort by minority leader Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) to tack an extension of the National Defense Education Act onto an appropriation bill failed in the Senate.

Extension of the National Defense Education Act seems to have best chance for passage. But this law does not expire till June 1962, so action can be delayed till next session.

Extension of educational aid to federally impacted areas also has a good chance for passage as 319 congressmen are from districts that get such aid. It covers schools crowded by the children of U. S. government employees.

THE BIG QUESTION is how many of the other programs can be tacked onto these basic measures as amendments and win Congressional approval. The other programs include federal grants for classroom construction and teachers' salaries, aid to higher education, scholarships, school construction loans for public, private and parochial schools as well.

In general the Senate is more favorable to all these proposals than the House. In previous Congresses, the Senate has passed omnibus aid to education bills, only to have them killed in the House.

By the best nose counts available, there are only 209 House votes at the most that can be counted on for federal aid to education. Those opposed are counted at 228.

So it would take a switch of ten votes for aid to education to sneak in by a one-vote majority if everybody voted, which seldom happens.

FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION opponents are a varied group of both Democratic and Republican conservatives, but they hold their coalition together better than the liberals.

Both racial and religious prejudices are prominent considerations. These are touchy subjects, but they can be talked about as political and economic issues, not as color or creed.

Some Congressmen want aid to education legislation to specify that none of the assistance shall go to schools where there is racial discrimination. Other Congressmen want aid to education for both private and parochial as well as public schools.

Misuse of Orbital Victory In Mr. K's Speeches Seen

By DAVID LAWRENCE

IN EUROPE, Aug. 10—Unquestionably, Nikita Khrushchev has overplayed his hand in the propaganda speeches he has delivered extolling the Soviet orbital flights as the product of the Communist-Socialist system. This is resented throughout Europe. Many a newspaper in countries like Sweden, Norway and Denmark has just expressed the criticism that celebration of a scientific experiment should not be cloaked in the language of international politics or polemics.

In addition, there is some skepticism developing about Maj. Titov's feat itself. While this is not as outspoken as the doubts that were expressed about Maj. Gagarin's story of his flight into space, some significant questions are nevertheless being raised.

Thus, Maj. Titov told newsmen in Moscow that he controlled the ship himself. When asked how he did this, he replied:

"I began manual guidance of the cosmic ship according to program at 10 o'clock (on Sunday). My ship is a very cleverly constructed machine, and easy to steer. It was possible to orientate it in any direction, to direct it where you needed, and where you wanted it to land. When I had the steering of the ship in my hands, I felt just like a real pilot. My first impression from manual operation is very good."

Manual Control "Malarkey"

Now, here is what the Reuters News Service reported to the European press in a dispatch from Stanford, Calif.

"C. Stark Draper, head of aeronautical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, described as 'malarkey' press reports that Cosmonaut Gherman Titov controlled the course of his Vostok II during his orbiting of the earth. Mr. Draper said:

"That boy didn't do anything more than Shepard did on his ride. He didn't have the thrust aboard to go out of his orbital path."

On this same point comes an article in "The London Daily Telegraph" by its science correspondent, Anthony Smith, who writes:

"Maj. Titov's remarks about his ability to maneuver his craft in space are frustratingly obscure. It would be interesting to know more about those automatic manual controls which work so easily. . . .

"Until fresh evidence is available, it must be assumed that he carried no large power unit on board with which to change his orbit. Until such a power unit is carried in a Russian rocket, the space man will be able only to rotate his craft within its orbit or to fire the retro-rockets and leave it altogether."

Another Doubt

Another part of Maj. Titov's speech delivered in the presence of Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Moscow is coming in for considerable discussion. The astronaut said, that, while in space, he had seen the lights of big cities by night and continents and oceans by day. While it takes enormous-sized telescopes to see at great distances, it would seem that by some magic of Mr. Khrushchev's communism the astronaut carried in his small space ship a telescope capable of distinguishing the earth's lights of cities at night. This has aroused widespread comment and expressions of doubt in Europe.

Because the Russians have never given the world the essential facts about how Maj. Gagarin conducted his flight, some scientists who developed a skepticism because of contradictory statements made by Maj. Gagarin after his flight are equally doubtful now about the Titov story of what he did aboard a small satellite.

European newspapers, for instance, are carrying dispatches from Washington written by their own correspondents, pointing out that the Russians have never told the whole story of the Gagarin flight.

Basic Fact Told

"The London Daily Telegraph" correspondent attributes to officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington the statement that the Russians have given only three salient facts about Maj. Gagarin's flight: the launching site, the landing point, and the flight time. These bare facts were filed by the Russians with the Federation Aeronautique Internationale in Paris, the international agency which certifies flying records. American officials are said to have expressed a hope that their own correspondents, pointing out that the Russians have never told the whole story of the Gagarin flight.

By contrast, the United States government has made to the scientific world full disclosure of the details of the flights of Cmdr. Shepard and Capt. Grissom and intends to follow the same policy in the future for its space flights. So far as scientific proof available to other countries is concerned, everything that was transmitted by radio from the Titov craft could have been recorded on tape ahead of time and played back on schedule from an orbiting satellite, and all the speeches could have been rehearsed in advance.

OLD TIMER'S CIVIL WAR NOTES

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

you must have been chasing the Rebels, for that's the way your 120th always ran."

Comrade C. P. Woolhiser, Co. K veteran, said he got knocked out at Gettysburg where, when apparently two-thirds of the regiment were dead or dying, an order came to rally on the colors. "I tried and got my dose, while dying presumably dead. Colonel Sharpe rode past and I hailed him and learned the colors were safe."

Woolhiser's wound healed after seven years of suffering, he said.

Frank McLeod then told how he and George Risinger at the fight at the Boyer Place Road, picked the colors out of a ditch where they had fallen after the bearer was shot, and carried them up on a hill where the regiment was re-formed. Maj. Martin Snyder of the old Twentieth made a humorous speech, telling how by being known as Captain Snyder he was often held responsible for remarks by Capt. J. L. Snyder with whom he did not agree.

... Wm. H. Ellsworth, Town of Hurley veteran who at age 82 years and eight months was the oldest veteran present, remarked, "The Devil ain't all out of me yet."

Following the conclusion of their daytime meeting, the veterans, headed by a drummer, marched over to the famed Winne's Eagle Hotel which stood for many years on the site of the present Main Street parking ground. The old soldiers could see from the Eagle's spacious veranda their Statue of Patriotism which had been erected the previous year at the Main and Fair Streets corner of the First Dutch Church yard.

The banquet was enlivened by what the boys' called the "Funny Table" because of the continuous merriment going on there. Seated at this table were: Levi Roosa, Captain Barber, Griffin A. Hart, Jerry Tompkins, Capt. C. W. Tompkins and C. V. L. Pitts. Barber, the only man young enough to read the fine print of the menu by gaslight, as well as being the only French scholar in the group, kindly translated for his associates who in return used their joint influence to secure for the captain an extra "Roman punch."

Major James H. Everett, toastmaster and speaker of the evening, said. In part: For many years we have met in reunions; year by year familiar faces drop out and no recruits to fill their places in the broken ranks. Yesterday, we attended the funeral of the president of our association, Capt. Ira Swart, who died February 19. His funeral in the Reformed Church was attended by Tappen Post, G.A.R.; Confidence and Ulster Lodges of Odd Fellows, the Exempt Firemen's Association and a large concourse of friends and veterans. Modest, brave and unassuming, his military life was a constant development. Captain Swart enlisted in Co. G of the 120th July 28, 1862, and after filling every position in the company was mustered out as a captain, June 3, 1865.

Colonel Tappen in a letter to a friend wrote of Chancellorsville. — "During the night we felled trees for a barricade and would probably have held the enemy if the regiment on our right had not broken, causing us to fall back. Our men recovered and soon were loading and firing like veterans. None but our wounded were carried to our rear. Colonel Tappen also wrote: "This morning I sent $13,000 to the Kingston Bank."

One month's pay for the regiment's 1,000 men. Major Everett also talked about other clashes with the enemy including Thatcher's Run, where Chaplain Henry Hopkins was in line with a musket, firing bravely.

Major Everett in conclusion said: The regiment that stood with the Army of the Potomac on the heights of Gettysburg and beat back the high tide of Confederate invasion; that through the Wilderness and on to Richmond and Petersburg, followed the Army of Northern Virginia to its surrender at Appomattox, made a record that justifies the monument on yonder corner among the memorials of the founders of State and of the patriots and heroes of former generations. And to the comrades that wear the diamond badge with figure 120 set in the trowel, no prouder decoration can be conferred upon you who have won for yourselves, as true and faithful soldiers in the Army of the Potomac, the Second and Third Corps, the Excelsior Brigade, — The 120th Regiment, N. Y. State Volunteers. — C. A. W.

Woodstock Library Fair Sets New Record for Net Income

In its brief but action packed seven hours of activity on July 27, the 34th annual Woodstock Library Fair set a new record for net profit, $7,632.05, it was announced this week.

Library officials said the fair attracted perhaps the largest crowd ever to assemble on the library grounds on Fair Day. The profit was described as remarkable for so short a sales period.

As usual, fair-goers, enjoyed an afternoon filled with bargains and excitement. Balloons drifted through the air like pastel bubbles. That marvelous American institution, the hot dog, was devoured in uncountable quantities. Many feet were tired, many ribs bruised, the usual share of tots became disengaged from their parents, but happy smiling faces and lilted laughter prevailed throughout.

'Staying Power' Is Sunday Sermon Topic At Shady Methodist

Sunday, August 13, at 7:30 p. m. the regular evening church service at the Methodist Church of Shady will find the Rev. H. Chase Page preaching on the topic "Staying Power." The public is invited to participate in the service and to visit the coffee and fellowship hour which is held directly after church in the church hall.

An amusing sidelight is that Ray has to wait another two years before he'll be licensed to drive, but rumor is about that he's devised a rather clever "pay-as-you-go" system for the other members of his family who can drive. Clever boy!

Fair Chairmen Mrs. Gordon Anderson, Mrs. Gordon Taylor and Mrs. Monroe Longendyke, who deserve a good share of credit for making this year's fair such an outstanding success, wish to extend their thanks and sincere appreciation to the many individuals who have given so graciously of their time, talent, money, and energy. How fortunate the Woodstock Library is to have such people living and working in the community.

Democratic Club Rally Plans Are Moving Nicely

There will be fun and entertainment for all ages at the Woodstock Democratic Club's first annual picnic and rally on Sunday, Aug. 20, at Morrison's Lake Hill House on Route 212 in Lake Hill.

Henry (Hank) Miller, operator of Camp Camelot and a specialist in children's activities, will direct the supervised activities for the kiddies. Attractive prizes will be awarded and an interesting program of kid games has been arranged.

Entertainment is under the direction of William Newgold, director of the Colony Arts Center of Woodstock. The entertainment will include folk singers and instrumentalists, and will feature some of the best known names in the area.

Principal speaker at the rally will be Gore Vidal, the Barrytown playwright and author who was the Democratic Congressional candidate in 1960. Vidal, who has a large following in the area, will speak on the area political scene.

County Democrats
Many prominent Ulster County Democrats including candidates for county office will be on hand.

General Chairman George Eichler says plans are progressing nicely. He will be the grand chef for a steak dinner which will be served in the afternoon. The Democratic Club president, Thomas O'Brien is currently hospitalized with a back injury, but has kept close touch with the ticket sales.

The public is invited to attend the rally to be held at the beautiful picnic grounds of the Morrison House in Lake Hill. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Democratic Club. Special ticket committee of Mrs. Betty Eichler, Mrs. Lisa Tiano and Mrs. Nancy Gilligan is also handling tickets.

Lack of Legislation Forces Another Pact on Succession

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Twice now American presidents and their vice presidents — because Congress wouldn't do anything on it—have had to agree between themselves on how a vice president takes over for a disabled president.

President Kennedy said Thursday he and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson have made such an agreement. It turned out to be word for word, the same as former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon on March 3, 1958.

See Big Hole

There's a big hole in it but it's the kind of hole which may never have to be filled.

The Constitution says that, in case of a president's inability to discharge his powers and duties, the vice president will take over. But it doesn't say what an inability is or who decides when inability exists and when it ends.

There has been argument over this constitutional clause since the Constitution was put together. But Eisenhower's heart attack in 1955 alerted him and the country to the need for some clarification—just in case.

His two attorneys general—first Herbert Brownell and then William P. Rogers—with the help of their Justice Department lawyers examined the problem and proposed to Congress, in 1956 and 1957, that it act on a constitutional amendment. It didn't.

Make Agreement

So Eisenhower, with the help of Rogers and the best advice the latter could get, made an agreement with Nixon—an agreement now duplicated by Kennedy and Johnson with the help of the President's brother, Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

Robert Kennedy sees eye-to-eye with Rogers on the wording of the agreement and the constitutional thinking behind it. A lot of questions can be raised about it.

But the two attorneys general thought they had reached a reasonable solution. It should be noted these two agreements applied only to the four men involved. No future president or vice president is bound by them.

They will be free to make any other agreements they wish, or none. But since Kennedy and Johnson thought the Eisenhower-Nixon arrangement was good for them, their successors in the White House are likely to do the same until, or unless, Congress finally decides to act. That's unlikely.

Agreement Outlined

The agreement says:

1. If the president becomes unable to carry out his duties he will—if he's able to—notify the vice president who will then act as president until the president's disability ends.

Note: This doesn't say the vice president becomes president during a period of presidential disability but only acts as president. 2. If the disabled president for some reason can't tell the vice president to take over for him temporarily, the vice president will consult with people he considers "appropriate" about taking over the presidency until the disability ends.

The ground rules seem pretty narrow here for Johnson. If Kennedy became too disabled to tell Johnson to take over for him, it's a sure bet the vice president would not make a move without consulting Kennedy's brother, the attorney general.

President to Decide

3. The president will decide when his disability ends and resume his duties.

All three of these arrangements raise questions but not more than the third in which a disabled president decides when he is no longer disabled. Suppose those around him still think he's too disabled to run the country. What then?

It's one of those itty questions. Government lawyers say they prefer to rely on the value language of No. 3 at the present and then try to deal with particular facts and circumstances as they might arise.

While Brownell and Rogers asked Congress in vain for a constitutional amendment to clear up the whole business once for all, House Speaker Sam Rayburn thought a simple congressional act might do.

Government lawyers disagreed. They said such an act would be challenged in the courts as unconstitutional. But the Kennedy-Johnson agreement is neither an act of Congress nor a constitutional amendment.

Therefore might not anything Johnson did, while acting as president for a disabled Kennedy, be challenged in court, too? For instance: if Johnson signed a bill which meant a loss of millions of dollars to someone.

But that's hypothetical at this point. Rogers and Robert Kennedy feel they have done their research and think the courts could uphold as constitutional the agreement they worked out.

Buffalo to Fight Power Rate Increase

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Buffalo city officials will fight any attempt by Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. to obtain state approval for a two per cent rate increase.

City Corporation Counsel Anthony Manguso said Thursday night he would challenge the company's rate-increase application before the Public Service Commission, which said Thursday a request for a two per cent boost would receive favorable consideration.

"Our office has a fixed policy of requiring utilities to prove beyond any doubt that they are entitled to the increases they request," Manguso said.

"So far, the rate application has been completely denied," he said, referring to the PSC's rejection earlier Thursday of a Niagara Mohawk application for a six per cent rate increase. "Up to this point, I'm pleased," he said.

Columbia Club To Host Young GOP Meeting

The Columbia County Young Republican Club will be host to the Third Judicial District meeting of the Association of New York State Young Republican Clubs Thursday, Aug. 17, at 8 p. m. at Kozel's Post Road Inn, Route 9H, below Claverack.

The seven counties represented in the Third Judicial District include Albany, Rensselaer, Greene, Sullivan, Ulster, Schoharie and Columbia.

The meeting of the board of governors of the district has been called to coordinate fall campaign plans, according to Donald MacCollam of Ulster County, chairman. MacCollam will preside at the meeting, assisted by Victoria Keator of Albany County, vice chairman.

Members of the board of governors who will attend include Sally Cullen, Albany; Gerald Briggs, Sullivan; Oreste Vincent, Greene; S. James Matthews, Ulster; Michael Rochester, Rensselaer; and Louis Wilson, Schoharie.

Charles Shattennick, governor of the Columbia County club, and Mary Ann Tinkler, co-governor, will serve as hosts. Aiding them will be Peter Nalen, president, and members of the executive board including Ralph Thompson, Kenneth Smith, Barbara Hensley and Sue Post Piester.

Invitations also have been extended to the presidents and co-governors of all county clubs in the district.

Queens GOP Head Leaves Post Until After Campaign

NEW YORK (AP)—Queens Republican leader Frank Kenna, under fire for his dealings with builders, today stepped down from his post, at least for the duration of the Mayoralty election campaign.

"This is no admission of wrongdoing," he said, in announcing his move. He called it a "realization of practical politics in a campaign and I am the victim."

Kenna's step came as State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz accused Mayor Robert F. Wagner of "outrageous hypocrisy" in withholding the text of an investigation report involving Kenna.

State GOP Chairman L. Hudson Moushous also had entered the picture, conferring Thursday with Kenna.

Kenna said:

"I am going to retire from the campaign, and turn the management of the campaign and other affairs of our party over to the other officers of the executive committee." He said he didn't want to be an "issue" in the city contest.

Five Are Killed in Algerian Gun Fight

SIDI BEL ABBES, Algeria (AP)—Three Algerian rebels, a soldier and a policeman were killed and several other persons were wounded today in a 2½-hour gun battle in a fashionable residential area.

The fight started about sunrise when a Foreign Legion patrol spotted rebels in a public garden. A rebel lookout was shot off his perch in a tree and a legionnaire was wounded in return.

Plan Mardi Gras

are offering cash prizes for the best floats, the best costumed marchers, and to the town fire department having the most men in line.

The parade will end at Ross Park, Port Ewen, where the mardi gras will be held. At the park, approximately two hours of entertainment will be presented. Following the entertainment there will be music for square dancing. Refreshments will be served continuously during the evening.

Port Ewen Business Men's committee making arrangements for the event is headed by Zale Liese. This committee is working in conjunction with the Town of Esopus sesquicentennial committee. Two years ago, during the Town's Hudson-Champlain celebration, the Port Ewen Business Men's Association sponsored a similar parade and mardi gras which was highly successful. Approximately 3,000 people attended that affair.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military forces of the United States and her allies are in training maneuvers in far flung quarters of the world while diplomats talk and the Communist crisis deepens.

But Washington officials say it is coincidence that the troubled time and training happen to come together, that big-scale military training must be and is planned long in advance.

In West Germany, three battle groups of the U.S. Army and tactical planes of the U.S. Air Force have just started a 10-day operation.

In this country, up to 30,000 Army troops and a swarm of planes are in the midst of a two-week operation, called Swift Strike, to train and test out airborne and other techniques.

In South Korea—like West Germany, located on the perimeter of the Communist empire—2,000 troops of the 7th Infantry Division have teamed up with Republic of Korea units in "Operation Sharp Edge." A U.S. Navy amphibious force, including both landing craft and destroyers, is in the operation.

Heading down the west coast of South America is a Navy force of four destroyers, patrol planes and a submarine, beginning "Exercise Unitas II." Prime purpose of this exercise is to help train navies of eight South American countries in antisubmarine warfare. From time to time, some of the smaller nations in that area make searches for suspected Communist submarines. Exercise Unitas II will continue until early this winter.

A North Atlantic Treaty Organization training operation, Trade Wind Five, is under way in the western North Atlantic. This exercise, however, will be essentially a paper maneuver, to test out command functions. No big movement of ships is involved. Earlier this summer, U.S., Canadian and other ships held exercises in the same area.

Lady Lawyer Has Plan to Settle All Labor Riffs

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A lady lawyer, who will not be treated as Adam's rib, headed home from the American Bar Association convention today with a victory of sorts.

Miss Dorothy Fooks of New York City had an idea to settle all labor disputes. Just set up labor courts with power to hand down decisions binding on all parties.

Introduced Resolution

At the ABA's 84th annual convention this week she introduced a resolution for a study of the idea.

Now, it is often difficult to get parties to a labor dispute to agree to voluntary arbitration, let alone compulsory arbitration, let alone labor courts with binding powers. If anybody tried to set up such courts, the issues involved undoubtedly would be carried swiftly to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The powers-that-be in the ABA decided to throw out the resolution. But they reckoned without Miss Fooks. She arose in ABA assembly Thursday to remark that resolutions introduced by three male delegates had been printed in the record for all delegates to read, but hers had not.

ABA President Whitney North Seymour of New York, who is reported to earn $80,000 a year as a constitutional lawyer, explained that there was a shortage of space in the record.

Seeks Reason

"Then why wasn't mine printed, and the others omitted?" Miss Fooks asked.

"Some people say that woman comes from the rib of a man, and is therefore a side issue. But I don't want to be a side issue, Miss Fooks went on.

So instead of throwing out the resolution, the ABA voted to refer it to a committee for study. Miss Fooks looked happy.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were pretty well mixed early this afternoon after a session in which the trend moved up and down uncertainly.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up 0.20 at 254.50. If maintained, the gain would carry the average to another closing high. Industrials were up 0.20 and both rails and utilities unchanged.

Xerox was up more than 4, adding to a similar gain Thursday, and MGM moved ahead another 2 points or so.

Copper shares were weak, Anaconda dropping more than a point and Kennecott nearly 3.

Motors were mostly stronger, along with rubber, building material and mail order firms, but other groups were irregular.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 2.73 at 732.22, also above its record closing high.

Goodrich ran ahead nearly 2 points and Goodyear around one. Ford was active and higher, along with Chrysler and General Motors. Du Pont and Air Reduction were ahead about a point among chemicals, but Union Carbide dipped.

DISCUSS ROAD PATCHING—During a recent visit to Binghamton John J. Schwenk, left, Republican candidate for mayor and former alderman-at-large, and James Norton, right, former Kingston superintendent of public works, discuss new method of road repair with Binghamton Commissioner of Public Works William Spellicy. A special asphalt mixture, Dix Seal, is used in the method which has been adopted by many communities in the state. The cost of the hot bituminous road surfacing material which can be made at any local asphalt plant, is about 50 cents per square yard applied. Kingston's current cost for street surfacing is approximately $2.50 per yard, Schwenk said.

SPREADING SURFACE MATERIAL—Binghamton public works employees apply asphalt surface by means of spreader attached to truck. The spreader costs about $900 as compared with the one now in use here which cost nearly $18,000, according to Schwenk.

RAKING OPERATION—A highway workers rakes new application of special material before final rolling operation. According to Schwenk the whole process is not only economical but can be done rapidly. The method has been used in the City of Binghamton for the past two years. Excellent lasting results are reported by Mayor John Burns and Public Works Commissioner Spellicy of that city.

4-Year-Old Shot Accidentally by Brother, Nine

TROUBSBURG, N. Y. (AP)—Four-year-old Cora Schoonover was fatally shot Thursday when a .22-caliber rifle held by her nine-year-old brother accidentally discharged at their home, six miles south of this Steuben County community.

Police said the girl, one of 11 children, was shot while playing with her brother, Richard. As Richard held the gun, she pushed it away, police said, apparently causing it to discharge.

250 to Lose Jobs In Transfer Move Of Daystrom Firm

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—The Daystrom Corp., producers of electrical equipment and precision instruments, announced today it would transfer part of its Weston Instruments Division from here to Archbald, Pa.

The transfer will result in loss of jobs for 250 local employees and relocation in Archbald for another 50, a company spokesman said. About 275 men will continue to work at the remaining operations here.

Weston Instruments is moving its production of recorder controllers and industrial gauges but continuing electrical work here on a contract basis.

Runaway Car Lands On Swedish Submarine

LYSEKIL, Sweden (AP)—The Swedish submarine Baevren saved a runaway automobile from the waters of the North Sea Thursday night.

A motorist from Stockholm parked the car on a street sloping sharply to the docks of this little fishing town on Sweden's west coast.

After the driver left, the car rolled down the street, through a busy intersection and over the embankment—to land on the submarine moored below.

Van Duzer Says Favoritism Was Shown Theobald

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—John J. Theobald was ineligible to become superintendent of New York City schools but got the job because the state education commissioner waived a requirement, an assemblyman says.

The State Education Department promptly denied the charge, leveled Thursday by Assemblyman Wilson C. Van Duzer, R-Middletown, a long-time critic of the department.

Van Duzer said Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. granted Theobald a certificate of eligibility for the post in 1958 when Theobald was deputy mayor of New York.

The assemblyman asserted: "Theobald technically was not eligible under the department's own rules for that certificate. However, the commissioner waived the requirements in this case ... almost immediately the other 20 or so candidates for the New York City superintendency 'lost interest' in the vacancy."

Allen was out of town but Allan P. Bradley, his executive assistant, gave this explanation: "A school supervisor must have five years teaching or supervising experience in public schools."

Theobald, a former president of Queens College, lacked that particular experience but the law says the University of the City of New York, of which Queens College is a part, is in the public school system.

Bradley said the department's counsel held that Theobald's experience as Queens College president satisfied the requirement.

Theobald has been embroiled in a controversy over a boat built for him by pupils of a vocational school and charges of corruption and conflict of interest among New York City school officials.

Van Duzer, taking note of the boat incident, said: "The commissioner should have been concerned a few years ago before he issued the certificate of eligibility that allowed Dr. Theobald to get the job that makes boats available as fringe benefits."

A certificate of eligibility is, in effect, a license. The Legislature and the education commissioner establish eligibility requirements.

Van Duzer made the charge in a letter to other legislators and members of the Orange County Republican Committee.

In the same letter he said he would seek re-election next year and again push for a probe of the State Education Department. Similar proposals of his in past years have been unsuccessful.

In Memory of Callahan

The meeting of the board was adjourned in memory of Lorin S. Callahan of the town of Lloyd, who died last week.

Callahan, 71, had been clerk of the township since 1913 and was believed to be the oldest in point of service in New York State.

The suggestion that the meeting be adjourned out of respect to Mr. Callahan was made by Supervisor John J. Gaffney of the town of Lloyd.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Investing in Small Firms Can Be a Risky Business

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q "I've read a bit about a promising new type of investment which is also said to have certain tax advantages. I believe they are called small investment companies. Can you tell me something about them?" R.P.

A You have been reading about small business investment companies, which came into being as a result of a Federal enactment in 1958. Since then, more than 250 SBICs have been registered, and the ranks are swelling rapidly.

The primary function of these investment companies is to provide capital for young firms which — without financial aid — might easily founder and sink. Many SBICs also provide specialized technical assistance, advisory and counselling services to those they assist.

By financing the growth of small businesses, SBICs often help to create a public market for their own investments. In some cases, this marketability has led to some impressive profits.

As you indicate, Congress has provided these investment companies with some large tax advantages. The main ones are that losses on investments can be charged off against ordinary income and that any profits made are taxable at the straight 25 per cent capital gains rate.

Some representative companies in the field are Electronics Capital Corp., Boston Capital Corp., Franklin Capital Corp. and Venture Capital of America.

Investing in small business investment companies involves considerable risk because the mortality rate of small, new ventures is always "pretty high. In general SBIC shares should be purchased only by those investors who can assume a considerable amount of risk."

Q "How do the prospects for American Electric Power look to you?" T.T.

A Excellent. This mid-western utility holding company serves a widely diversified industrial and residential area which has good expansion potentials. I look for a good increase in earnings this year, and there is a possibility of another dividend increase later in 1961.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Postpone Esopus

foot of Canal Street, Port Ewen. The purchase covers over 10 acres of land.

Work at the beach area has been accomplished with funds derived from the steamer excursion conducted by Ross Park commissioners last year.

To Recondition Highway

The board was advised by letter from the State Department of Public Works that the portion of Route 213 offered to the town from Eddyville Bridge through St. Remy will have surface and drainage properly reconditioned before it is turned over to the town on completion of the new section of Route 213.

It was announced that the Town Board and Board of Assessors met with a representative of the State Board of Equalization and Assessment on Tuesday to discuss 19 spot checks of assessments made by the state. The spot checks are made annually to determine the town's equalization rate. The town's rate is 19.

DeVall H. Dunbar, town building inspector reported that 13 permits had been issued in July covering work valued at $87,900. The board granted a request for $2,500 by William J. C. Budenhagen, reporting for the Port Ewen Water District commissioners, who said additional funds were needed to continue development work in attempting to find an additional source of water for the district. Several sources checked were found to be unsuitable.

Reports Loss on Trip

Supervisor Roger W. Mable reporting for the town's sesquicentennial committee said the group suffered a small loss on the steamboat excursion to New York on July 18, and urged full participation in the mardi gras and parade to be held in Port Ewen on August 19 as part of the town's 150th anniversary celebration. The Port Ewen Business Men's Association is sponsoring the Aug. 19 event.

The board authorized Charles Gaffney, attorney for the town to negotiate with Hadley Williams, general manager of Kingston Cablevision Inc., on an agreement that would be acceptable to both parties in regard to installing poles to carry cablevision service to the area.

Ransley Shelter-All Co., was granted permission to build a school bus shelter on town property near the intersection of Salem and Gurney Streets, Port Ewen.

The board approved the substitution of Mrs. Geraldine Terpening for Mrs. Audrea Bailey as Democratic inspector of election in Election District No. 4, Rifton.

Oppose Cut Back

all other sections of road in the county."

It further pointed out that the growth in population of southern Ulster County has increased the need for police protection due to increased traffic on the roads and an increased crime rate, and that the presence of the Highland barracks has "acted as a curb to a rising crime and auto accident rate."

The reduction of police force at the barracks would probably increase the crime rate and auto accident rate and will adversely affect and deprive thousands of citizens living in the southern part of Ulster County of badly needed police protection both in their homes and on the roads," the resolution stated.

Copies of the resolution are being sent to the Governor, the superintendent of state police, the state senator from this district and the state assemblyman.

Wyoming County Man Heads Sheriffs' Assn.

SCHROON LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—Thomas V. Kennedy of Warsaw, Wyoming County sheriff, is the new president of the State Sheriffs' Association.

He was elected Thursday to succeed Charles McCluskey of Mayville, Chautauque County sheriff.

Others named at the closing session of the association's four-day convention were:

Charles R. Dominy of Riverhead, Suffolk County sheriff, first vice president; John M. Porbach of Binghamton, Broome County sheriff, second vice president; Robert Chauffy of Watertown, Jefferson County sheriff, secretary; and B. John Tutuska of Buffalo, Erie County sheriff, treasurer.

Edward G. Dillon of Albany was re-elected counsel and executive director.

MV Department Offers Operators Renewal Advice

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Motor Vehicle Department said today it was mailing this week the last of the 2.5 million applications for driver's license renewals.

Under a new system using blanks, the only way a motorist can receive his application is through the mail, the department said.

The department issued this advice:

1. If you renew by mail, be sure to include the renewal stub from your old license with your purchase application. If you renew in person, take the renewal stub with you.

2. If you discover errors in the identification data on the purchase application, call these to the attention of the clerk. The incorrect application will be validated and a new application mailed later.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller today appointed William B. MacGregor of East Greenbush to the board of trustees of the Hudson Valley Community College in Troy to fill the unexpired term of the late Gay H. Brown of Troy. The term expires in 1966.

NEW YORK (AP)—Your boss may think the avalanche of mail grows more menacing every day. But chances are he doesn't see half of it—especially if he is the top boss.

Also, the bigger the company the smaller the percentage of the mail that reaches the chief executive's desk. And of the mail he does handle the greater is the proportion that has little direct connection with the firm's business.

Secretaries of big corporations can confirm this. Also they can tell you that a large part of the paper hitting the "in" and "out" boxes is of the interoffice memo variety or the letter from company divisions in other cities.

As a man rises up the executive ladder the more likely he is to tell his subordinates what he has to say by phone, but to ask them for written memos.

Secretaries note, however, that top men like to do as much as possible of the firm's business with other chief executives by direct contact, either by phone or in person.

Interviews with 200 executives, and many of their secretaries, of companies of all sizes in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles by research consultants for an office equipment maker, the American Photocopy Equipment Co., Evanston, Ill., show that usually the smaller company chief executive handles a greater proportion of the firm's mail personally than does his counterpart in the big corporation.

That is because in the smaller company the top man is more concerned with the day to day business judgments. In the larger firm these problems automatically are addressed to division or department heads—or are forwarded there by the secretary of the big boss. Some companies estimate that as high as 75 per cent of the mail addressed to their top executive never reaches him—nor does he read it.

One executive estimates that about 65 per cent of his mail doesn't deal directly with his own company's business.

Dies of Injuries

ROME, N.Y. (AP) — Philip H. Brown, 33, of Taberg, Oneida County, died Thursday in a hospital of injuries suffered earlier when his automobile crashed into the porch of a house off Route 69 north of here.

Police said Brown apparently had fallen asleep while driving.

Fire Police Group Adds 4 Members At Quiet Session

Ulster County Fire Police Association Inc., at its Wednesday night meeting at Clintondale Firehouse added four new members to its roster which now stands at 217, representing 35 volunteer fire companies in the county.

Welcomed into the association were Kenneth Decker, Fred A. Geist and Charles J. Piratzky, all of Saugerties, and Peter Guido of Highland.

Only 40 members attended the quiet summer session. New by-law books were distributed and plans outlined to increase the attendance at meetings.

The next meeting is scheduled October 11 at Accord Firehouse.

Held for Transporting Auto From Peekskill

LOWELL, Mass. (AP)—John C. Jordan, 22, was held today in $1,000 bail on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile from Peekskill, N.Y., to Lowell.

He was arrested Thursday and arraigned before a U.S. commissioner.

Jordan had been working here since about June 30 under the name of John E. Robertson, the FBI said. He previously lived at Highland Falls, N.Y., and is a native of Atlanta, Ga., the FBI said.

Trump Play Is Losing Tactic

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North's jump to three spades is correct in Jacoby-Smith. The bid is strongly invitational, but not forcing.

Playing standard American, North responds with two hearts and then raises to three spades to give the same game invitation.

Needless to say, South goes to game in any system and West starts proceedings for the defense by leading three rounds of diamonds.

South trumps the third lead and then in accordance with George Gooden's three "Ds" for trump play—Draw Delay, Don't—South decides on Don't. He has to do something about the club suit first.

He enters dummy with the ace of hearts, leads a club and finesses the queen.

West takes his king and forces South to ruff a heart.

South cashes the club ace, ruffs a club in dummy and notes that both opponents have followed, so that there are no more clubs left to bother him.

At this point a careless player would start to draw trumps and East's four trumps would set him.

A careful player would note that dummy held two high trumps for his last two clubs and that he held three high trumps for dummy's spades so that a cross ruff would bring in the rest of the tricks against any combination of cards.

BRIDGE BUILDERS AND FERRY THEY'LL REPLACE—Two members of the construction crew of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge and Tunnel are shown at work as one of the seven Little Creek Ferry ships comes into Norfolk for a landing. Passengers on the ferries, which operate between Norfolk and the Eastern Shore of Virginia on U. S. 13, now have an opportunity to see the world's longest bridge-tunnel being built. The 17.5-mile crossing will consist of 2 mile-long tunnels, low level trestles and bridges. It will cost $200,000,000 and is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1963. The project is being built as a joint venture by Tidewater Construction Corporation, Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corporation, Raymond International Inc., Peter Kiewit Sons' Co. and the American Bridge Division of United States Steel Corporation.

Fallout Shelter Will Be on View At County Fair

A full-scale family fallout shelter will be prominently displayed at the Ulster County Fair, Wednesday and Thursday, at Forsyth Park, Kingston.

Constructed of simulated concrete blocks and timber, the shelter is 9 feet deep, 7 feet high and 11 feet long. The exhibit model is a "cut-away," with one wall half-open for easy viewing. Visitors to the fair may thus get a comprehensive look at the interior where every inch of space is carefully utilized. The shelter is completely equipped for occupancy with sleeping bunks, blankets and bedding, battery radio, battery lanterns, water and other emergency gear. Simulated food stocks show varieties of food needed to provide adequate nutrition for adults and children for two weeks.

To Distribute Booklets

This protection against radioactive fallout is not only easily attainable, but relatively inexpensive. Booklets for distribution at the shelter exhibit contain plans for shelter construction adapted to use by contractors, or by the home handy-man. Other leaflets list readily obtainable food items for the fallout shelter "pantry shelf."

The family fallout shelters are co-sponsored by the State Civil Defense Commission and the Ulster County Civil Defense Office. Their showings in all parts of New York State are a phase of the educational program directed to alerting people on the need for radioactive fallout protection in case of nuclear attack. Major H. Edgar Timmerman, director of Civil Defense for Ulster County, hopes that area residents who are interested in building their own shelters, will stop at the exhibit. If further information is required, Civil Defense personnel will be available to answer questions.

Pulitzer Author, Julia M. Peterkin, Dies Thursday

ORANBURG, S.C. (AP) — Julia Mood Peterkin, 80, Pulitzer prize-winning author, died Thursday in Orangeburg Regional Hospital.

Her novel, "Scarlet Sister Mary," was awarded a Pulitzer Prize in 1928.

Mrs. Peterkin contributed to numerous magazines. A native of Laurens, S.C., she attended Converse College, where she received her bachelor, masters and doctorate degrees. She lived at Fort Motte, near Orangeburg.

Survivors include a son, William G. Peterkin of Fort Motte; two grandsons, William G. Peterkin III and J. Preston Peterkin of Fort Motte; a brother, Dr. A. H. Mood of Sumter, S.C.; two sisters, Mrs. A. P. Burgess of Asheboro, N.C., and Laura Mood Schneider of Los Angeles, Calif.

Services will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday at St. Matthews Episcopal church. Burial will be in the family plot there.

$25,000 Needed To Enlarge Local Library Building

NEW PALTZ—The Board of the Elting Memorial Library, after several years of studying the possibilities of enlarging the historic building, have now come up with a design to coincide with the original architecture.

The plans were drawn up by Dr. James Grote Vander Pool of Columbia University School of Architecture with Leon H. Smith as architectural consultant.

A new room will branch out from the frame section in the back. This will provide much-needed space for more library facilities and more room where the children may read and study.

Much more space is needed to store books where they will be available to readers and research workers as the circulation grows larger each year. Increased circulation is due mostly to the fact that new fiction is received here shortly after publication, as well as the prompt addition of books on contemporary subjects of non-fiction.

Contractors bids for this new addition will be opened at the regular meeting of the board of trustees to be held Sept. 7. A general canvass in the community for the funds to meet this need will get underway.

About $25,000 will be needed to build this addition and furnish it. Some donations have already been received.

The fund raising committee has been announced by William Heidgerd, president of the Library Association Board of Trustees. Members are John Vett, general chairman; Harold Tannenbaum, vice chairman; Henry DuBois, mayor; Peter Savago, supervisor of the town; George Majestic, supervisor of the Town of Gardiner. Also Thomas Benenati, Mrs. William Bracken, Mrs. Raymond Coats, Mrs. Richard Culver, Miss Jennie Lee Dann, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Eugene Denniston, Mrs. Jacob Elting, Mrs. John Glancy Jr., Frank Hamilton, Mrs. William Heidgerd, Miss Helen Hasbrouck, Miss Amy Hepburn, Mrs. Clifford Hoppenstedt, Louis DuBois LeFevre, Harold Phillips, Miss Helena LeFevre, Mrs. Gordon Pine, Mrs. Jeffery Wiersum, Mrs. Daniel Shaw, and Mrs. Perry Wilson.

The Memorial Library is shared with the people of Gardiner both in the use of its facilities and help in its support.

2 Local Faculty Members Resign

At a recent special meeting of the Central School Board, two resignations were accepted with regret, Miss Martha Speicher, librarian, has resigned and will return to Ohio where she will be married in the near future. Mrs. Selma Streifer has resigned as commercial teacher to accept a position in the Wappingers Falls school system.

The board voted to purchase a fire alarm system to be installed in the boiler room.

Mrs. Anthony Fiordilino and Emmet Hyatt were approved by the board as school bus drivers.

Contract was awarded to the General Baking Company for bread; the Borden Company for ice cream; Meadow Valley Stock Farm for milk; Nation-Wide Insurance Company for workmen's compensation through S. Paris Glenn, and Corwin Insurance Agency for auto physical damage insurance.

Letters were read from John Vett thanking the board for the use of the school's facilities for the entrance examinations, and from the New Paltz Fire Department for the use of the cooler during the firemen's convention.

Border Patrol Well Trained To Handle Plane Hijacking

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy tapped a well-trained energetic bunch with pride in its work—the Border Patrol—in efforts to stop plane hijacking.

The patrol itself wasn't giving any details about its new assignment, announced Thursday by the President, to put border patrolmen aboard some planes.

One of its men, Leonard Gilman happened to be a passenger on the plane hijacked at El Paso last week. Gilman ended the incident with a wallop to the jaw of one of the hijackers.

"I'm a trained officer," Gilman explained later in brushing aside any idea of his being a hero.

The Border Patrol has about

1,500 men with the principal duty of guarding the borders of the United States against illegal entry of persons.

Border patrolmen wear uniforms of khaki green trousers and shirt and a Sam Brown belt with holster and gun.

They use their feet, horses, jeeps, boats and airplanes—some as pilots—to carry out their duties. They're crack shots, too.

The Border Patrol was established in 1924 under the old Bureau of Immigration in the Department of Labor. In the reorganizing of government agencies in 1940, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, including the border patrol, was transferred to the Department of Justice.

As far back as 1904 mounted inspectors patrolled the Mexican border in an effort to check the smuggling of Chinese into the United States.

Lt. Gen. J. M. Swing, U.S. Army (Ret.) is the service head. Under him is James F. Greene, a long-time border patrolman, whom the border patrolmen call their national chief.

All positions in the border patrol are subject to civil service rules and regulations.

Odd Bits of News From Here, There

By RAY KOHN
Associated Press Staff Writer

You can't win 'em all, especially when racing the stork.

Miami, Fla. police were forgiving when Isaac Reed drove his car smack into the rear of one ahead. Isaac, driving his wife, Ethel, to the hospital, had been tossing frequent glances into the back seat because it was a tossup whether the stork would wait.

After the crash came the cops. By that time the Reeds had a new daughter. The patrolman did not give Reed a traffic ticket.

In appreciation, Reed said, he's naming the baby "Charity."

Sporting Gesture

In the Bronx, two radio car patrolmen halted motorist Victor Torres and gave him a ticket for running a red light. At the same moment a 30-pound chunk of concrete was dropped from the roof of a five-story building. The concrete landed in the rear deck of the patrol car, inches from the men, but no one was hurt.

The policemen ran to the roof of the building. They said a slab of stonework had been removed from the rear of the roof, was carried to the front, and flung at them.

Torres, meanwhile, nobly called headquarters for more police help.

Towering Problem

When you gaze upon the leaning tower of Pisa in Italy, it appears about to fall down of its own accord. Now somebody threatens to blow it up. As a result of an anonymous letter, police doubled their guard around the ancient structure.

Hen, Famous for Odd Shaped Eggs Is Dead

POOLE, England (AP) — Adelaide, the hen that laid curved eggs, is dead.

Between 1957 and her death this week Adelaide laid hundreds of eggs, every one of them as curved as a banana.

Her product amazed naturalists and won her fan mail from all over Britain and the United States.

She made television appearances and collected more than 1,000 pounds—$2,500—for charity.

Adelaide died quietly on the nest in this Dorset town after laying an egg—curved as always.

Fire Destroys Seat In Car at Woodstock

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the front seat of an automobile owned by Patrick O'Connor of Zena road, Woodstock, late Thursday night.

The blaze was discovered about 10:30 p. m. while the car was parked near O'Connor's home.

The Zena Fire Company No. 4 responded under Capt. Charles Wolven. Also at the scene was Woodstock Fire Company No. 1. Acting Chief Marvin J. Doremus of the Woodstock company said the front seat was heavily damaged. Cause of the blaze is unknown, he said.

Honor Hercules Buyer At Retirement Dinner

Ernest J. Turner, a senior buyer in Hercules Powder Company's purchasing department, retires at the end of August.

He was honored recently at a testimonial dinner, sponsored by the American Turpentine Farmers Association in Jacksonville, Fla. Turner was cited for the "outstanding and important part" he has played in the naval stores industry (turpentine and other pine chemicals) during the past 40 years.

Hercules Vice President Paul Mayfield attended the dinner and paid tribute to Turner for his contributions to Hercules and to the overall naval stores industry.

Community Picnic Set at Connelly For Anniversary

The annual community picnic sponsored by Hasbrouck Engine Co. No. 1 of Connelly will be held Sunday, it was announced today. The affair will be held on the Connelly Levels at the western end of the village.

The picnic is one of the few fund raising events conducted by Hasbrouck Engine Co. No. 1 during the year. The firemen are hoping for a large crowd. The picnic this year is also being held as an event of the Town of Esopus sesquicentennial celebration.

Regina Doris Bunt Weds Alan F. Tisch In Double Ring Ceremony at St. Mary's

MRS. ALAN F. TISCH (Pennington photo)

Miss Regina Doris Bunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bunt of Kingston, wed Alan Frederick Tisch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tisch of West Shokan, Sunday, Aug. 6 at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Church, this city.

Officiating was the Rev. James J. Cunningham.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over tulle with a long tapered skirt ending in points over the wrist and a sequin and pearl trimmed Sabrina neckline. The bouffant skirt was embroidered with sequins and pearls. A crown of seed pearls held a silk illusion veil. The bride carried white roses. Serving as maid of honor was Miss Louise Klarick of Kingston. She wore a daffodil yellow ballerina length gown styled with a softly scooped neckline, abbreviated sleeves, cummerbund and self rose at the waistline. Her bouffant skirt was trimmed with roses and a crown held a flirtation veil. Dressed identically were the bridesmaids, Miss Sharon Woods and Miss Maria Bayona, both of Kingston. The bride's niece, Joanne Mancuso of Kingston, was flower girl. She wore a full length orchid silk organza gown with a matching flower garland for her hair. She carried an arm basket of pompons.

Thomas Tapoe of Kingston was the best man. Ushers were Kenneth Sickler of Kingston and the bride's brother, George Bunt Jr., also of Kingston. Frank Frank Misasi of 225 Flatbush Avenue, nephew of the bride, was the child ringbearer.

A reception was given at the Yacht Club for approximately 150 guests.

For her wedding trip to Canada, the bride wore a green and white sheath dress and matching jacket and white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Tisch will reside at 14 Van Gaasbeck Street, this city.

Births

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

FEELS RESPONSIBLE FOR FRIEND'S DAUGHTER LIVING IN HER HOUSE

Q: A friend's daughter recently came to this city to work. I asked her to come and stay with us, as we had an extra room. My daughter, who is this girl's same age, was delighted. Everything went well for a while, but she has suddenly taken to staying out very late. I do not approve of this at all as she is still rather young and I certainly wouldn't allow my own daughter to do this. I feel that since she is living with us I am more or less responsible for her and I think she should conform to the rules of the house. My daughter thinks it would be very wrong for me to say anything to her as I have no right to tell her when to come and go. As she is living under my roof, don't you think I have the right to say something?

A: As long as she is living in your house, you not only have the right to see that she comes in at a reasonable hour, but it is your duty. If her mother tells you she does not object, that would be a different story.

Serving Champagne
Q: I am giving a dinner party soon and would like to serve champagne. Will you please tell me the proper way to serve it?

A: It should be put in the refrigerator for a day and then a half hour before serving placed into a cooler with water and ice, and holding the bottle by the neck turned back and forth from time to time. Also, when opening, be sure to wrap the bottle in a towel or napkin as a protection in case it explodes. If the champagne must be chilled quickly, add a handful of salt to the ice and water mixture.

Tipping Airplane Personnel

Q: I am going to visit my daughter and her husband who live out on the West Coast. I plan to fly. This will be my first airplane flight. I understand that dinner will be served on the plane. Am I supposed to tip the stewardess who serves me, and if so, how much?

A: The stewardess is not given a tip. Tipping airplane personnel is strictly against airline regulations.

Co-operative Plan Offers Earnings While Learning

By FAYE HENLE

More opportunity to earn while you learn; more opportunity to hire skilled personnel, specially trained to operate in your company, would result from more co-operative education programs throughout the nation.

Co-operative education is a plan whereby a college or graduate student spends a stated period — often the first year or two — on campus, and a stated period working for an approved employer earning the regular salary paid for his or her particular job classification.

Currently only about 5 per cent of the nation's colleges offer such programs.

The plan was examined closely during the third Work-Study in Higher Education Conference at Princeton, N. J., sponsored by the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation. Issued at the meeting was a "Report of Co-operative Education" by Ralph W. Tyler, director of the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences. It is based on interviews with some 5,300 students and graduates and reveals several challenging aspects to this form of education.

While the primary aspects of co-operative education is not the earning opportunity but the educational value, co-operative students showed earnings during their study period (usually five years) that ranged from $1,500 to $7,300. (Cost of college during the period varied from $3,600 to $9,000.)

Though few co-operative students can finance the entire cost of college, they are able in many cases to earn a greater-than-average share of these expenses. For half of all co-operative students, college would have been doubtful or impossible without their own earnings.

Only 37 per cent of regular students reported that without earnings they could not have enjoyed a college education.

About one-third of the co-operative students came from working class families; contrasted with about one-fifth of regular college students. A majority come from middle income families.

There are too few co-operative programs for women students. Most of the programs are for engineering and business administration majors. However, this type of education makes excellent sense for women, since too many girls graduate with no marketable skills and little acquaintance with the world of work.

With the trend toward early marriage, girls who graduated from "co-op" schools would have greater confidence that they could return to productive employment when their children are grown.

Since not all co-operative students are on campus at the same time, the program could be a great aid to colleges wondering how they can keep pace with the 70 per cent increase in enrollment expected during the '60s. (All rights reserved, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Sound the Alarm

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Parks officials said at a budget hearing that a siren alarm system at an east side playground has been an effective weapon against vandalism. Damage at the playground has "dropped almost to nothing," the officials reported.

In contrast, a recent weekend of vandalism, at another playground resulted in $2,300 damage. The alarms, which cost about $2,000 installed, are planned for all 93 buildings in the city's parks and playgrounds.

We The Women

'Good Women Make Good Wives'—Not Necessarily

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"I've always been a good wife," wails the woman whose marriage is breaking up. She is sure it is no fault of her own.

The trouble is that in most such cases the woman who can't understand what happened to her marriage has confused being "a good woman" with being "a good wife."

There's more—lots more—to being a good wife than just being a good woman. A good woman can, and sometimes does, get the idea that she is always in the right and that whenever there is a difference of opinion her husband is bound to be in the wrong.

A good woman can be a bore, with no spark of humor or gaiety or romance to make living with her an adventure.

A good woman can be an excellent housewife—but a poor homemaker if she thinks of her home as her castle.

A good woman can be overly ambitious for her husband and push him until he becomes resentful.

A good woman can make the mistake of always putting her children first and blaming her husband if he wants to be first himself sometimes.

A good woman can make the mistake of trying to live through her children, neglecting her own needs and wants until she is nothing but a door mat.

A good woman can be self-righteously intolerant of others, especially when she is thoroughly sold on the idea of her own goodness.

A good woman can fail to keep step with her husband's intellectual growth or take a superior attitude toward his hobbies and outside interests.

So a good woman isn't necessarily a good wife—though too many women think they are one and the same thing.

More Than 2500 4-H Exhibits Are Ready for Fair

Final preparations are in the making for the 4-H Club exhibits and activities which will take place at the Ulster County Fair at Forsyth Park, Kingston, Wednesday, Aug. 16 and Thursday, Aug. 17. Over 2,500 exhibits have been received to date at the 4-H office from 4-H Club members.

Entries and exhibits include foods, home management and improvement, clothing, hobbies, handicraft, crafts, garden and crops, livestock, horses, poultry, club booths and records, ornamental horticulture and conservation. The exhibits represent the year's work for 4-H members, and entries are made on the basis of project completion in the 1960 4-H Club year.

The educational program in which the 4-H Clubs provide in the two days include:

Wednesday, 9 a. m. to 10 a. m. all exhibits in place for judging; milk bar opens, continues to 9 p. m.; demonstrations start, continuing to 9 p. m.; food sale opens, continues to 9 p. m.; 9 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., dairy showmanship; 10 a. m., judging of poultry exhibits; judging of garden and crops exhibits; judging of homemaking exhibits, crafts, horticulture, Christmas greens, and hobbies.

From 10:30 a. m. to 12 noon, dairy and open class cattle judging; 12 noon garden judging contest; 1 p. m. poultry judging contest; 1:15-3 p. m. dairy judging contest; 1:30-5 p. m. completion of 4-H and open class cattle judging and all 4-H judging; 6 p. m. sheep showmanship followed by 4-H dress revue.

Thursday, 8:15 a. m., all members participating in the 4-H horse classes at fair grounds; 9 a. m., horse show; 9-10 a. m., homemaking skills contest for 4-H members; 9 a. m.-5 p. m., 4-H milk bar, food sale and demonstrations; 3-5 p. m., vegetable sale; 5 p. m., close of fair.

Entries in the 4-H Club division are judged by qualified judges in each classification, and ribbon and premium awards are made to members.

Allocate $8,867 To Local Cancer Society Chapter

Allocations totalling $8,867 have been made to the Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society by the Society's New York State Division for local cancer education and service projects, it was announced today by Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, unit president.

Funds for cancer projects are raised during the society's annual Cancer Crusade in April.

The grants here follow: Cancer Information Center, 400 Broadway, Kingston, $4,867; Tumor Clinic, Ulster County, $4,000.

The grants cover continued operation of the society's program for the fiscal year starting Sept. 1 and are part of the $503,382.17 allocated by the division for service and education projects in the 54 upstate counties.

The division also has allocated a total of $52,800 for its Postgraduate and Student Medical Fellowship program in the four Upstate Medical Centers in Albany, Syracuse, Rochester, and Buffalo.

In addition to these grants by the New York State Division, the American Cancer Society has made cancer research grants, now in effect totalling more than $730,000 to hospitals and institutions in the 54 upstate counties.

Other funds raised during the Cancer Crusade are used to support national research work to find the causes and cures and preventatives of cancer, provide specialized training for physicians in cancer diagnosis and stimulate the establishment and operation of facilities to aid the cancer control program.

Residents who may wish to volunteer to work in the society's program may contact the American Cancer Society Information Center.

It was Benjamin Constant, portrait painter of Queen Victoria, who wrote: "The press is the mistress of intelligence and intelligence is the mistress of the world."

GET READY FOR FAIR—Getting their sheep ready for the Ulster County Fair on Aug. 16 and 17 are 4-H Members Barry and Bruce Brower of High Falls. They are members of the High Falls Lightning Rods led by George Reisenauer, William Warren and Frank Lynch. This year at the fair there will be over 20 sheep exhibited by 4-H members and adults. The sheep classes will be held at 6 p. m. Wednesday. Doing the judging will be Cecil Fraleigh of Dutchess County. Also on Wednesday evening will be the judging of the goat and rabbit classes. $20,000 Jewelry Taken From Home Of Irving Ives

NORWICH, N. Y. (AP)—A burglar broke into the home of former U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives Thursday night and took an estimated $20,000 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Ives' bedroom while she slept, police reported today.

Neither Ives, who is a semi-invalid and was in another room, nor his wife awakened, Police Chief Harold Mittice said.

Mrs. Ives' jewelry was in a box in her second-floor room.

In addition, between $50 and $60 was taken from Mrs. Ives' handbag and about $90 in coins from Ives' office.

Ives, 65, who was Republican Senator from New York from 1947 to 1959 slept in a first-floor bedroom, Mittice said. His nurse discovered the break this morning.

Mittice said the thief entered the home at 174 North Broad Street by removing a storm win-

Johore Sultan Names Son, Crown Prince

JOHORE, Malaya (AP)—The sultan of Johore unceremoniously made his second son crown prince Thursday, reportedly because of his elder son's plan to take a second wife.

The wealthy sultan, whose father's playboy activities were often in the news before World War II, deposed Prince Mahmud and named Prince Abdul Rahman heir to the throne of Malaya's richest state.

Moslem law allows a man four wives, but neither the sultan nor his father practiced polygamy.

The regular baseball season ends for the Kingston Braves Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

A season which was launched on high hopes will terminate on the same note of apathy and indifference as its predecessors in the NY-NJ League. The hard core faithful have aroused themselves for the weekly pilgrimage to the uptown ball park, but, as usual the majority of fans stayed away in droves.

This was not one of the better Kingston Braves teams, but it was good enough to wrap up the Western Division pennant in impressive fashion. It remains to be seen if it can handle the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls, a perennial nemesis, in the championship play-off.

Mike Spada, a young man headed back for an organized baseball tryout, aroused a new spark of interest in the Braves. It appears unlikely that Spada will be around next season—if there is another NY-NJ season—to bellwether the Kingston pitching staff.

One thing is obvious. Fred Davi's high priced Connecticut farmhands have yet to bring a league championship to Kingston. A new format might be in order for 1962, if, like we said, there is a 1962 for the NY-NJ circuit.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Umpire halting is hitting a new high in the NY-NJ League, indicating that there is no greater sin in baseball than a crop of mediocre umpires, who can't control a ball game. . . . William F. Dougherty, a former Kingston resident, writes from Holyoke, Mass., he feels that if Babe Ruth were alive today he would be proud to see his record broken, especially by a member of the Yankees. . . . Winfield B. Van Bramer of Poughkeepsie, labor relations manager of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., recently shot a hole-in-one in the Dutchess Country Club Seniors. . . . He canned a 5-iron shot on the 155-yard 15th hole. A former Kingstonian, Van Bramer is a brother of LeRoy Van Bramer, who is manager of A. R. Newcomb, Inc. His wife is the former Eleanor Phinney, daughter of former police chief Charles Phinney. . . . Henry (Bud) Leininger of Kingston won the President's Cup competition at Red Hook, firing a 67 in a playoff.

Bowling Season Comes On:

The New York State Woman's Bowling Association has just closed out its books for the 1960-61 season by tossing bouquets at several performers. Lois Banks of Staten Island received a diamond medal for a 290 high single, highest in the state. Second high single award, a gold medal, went to Jeanne Meacham of Hornell. Miss Meacham also won the statewide high triple award with 735. Carol Shevlin of Buffalo was runnerup with 729. The Association not only had a record breaking tournament with 2682 teams, but the record membership for the 1959-60 season of 156,562 was broken. Total membership as of July 31, 1961, was an all-time high of 196,085, an increase of 27,523. The NYSWBA news bulletin also takes cognizance of Lee Madden's appointment as publicity chairman for the 1962 tournament and convention in Kingston. We know the weather is hot and sticky but just a casual reminder; the 1962 state tournament opens in Kingston on March 23. The annual convention will be held Saturday, March 31. The team event will be rolled at Sangi's Bowlero, the doubles and singles at Ferraro's Bowlerama.

International Jamboree:

Gene Sarazen of nearby Germantown, who retains his golf prestige and skills long after his contemporaries have faded from the scene, has been named commentator for an international tour of golf known as "Shell's Wonderful World of Golf" and sponsored by the Shell Oil Company. Sarazen, who is due in Woodstock later this season, will make the world tour as a player and commentator. He is now in England to meet the great British master, Henry Cotton. Analyzing the play as it progresses, he will explain why a particular club is chosen for a particular shot on this particular day. This will give the viewer, for the first time, an insight into the minds of the outstanding golfers as they are playing. The show for the first time will attempt to convey to the TV audience the intellectual or "thinking" side of the sport. "Why" a shot is made will be more important than "how" it is made. Local golfing customs as well as the history and the challenges that make the courses unusual and great will round out the show.

The famous courses on every continent to be played are: St. Andrews, Scotland; Pine Valley, New Jersey; St. Cloud, Paris; Wentworth, England; Banff, Canada; Kasumegaski, Japan; Royal Hong Kong, Hong Kong; Royal Melbourne, Australia and Jockey Club, Buenos Aires, Argentina. Other matches are tentatively scheduled in Brazil and Italy.

Participating players, besides Sarazen are: Henry Cotton, England; Flory Van Donck, Belgium; Pete Nakamura, Chen Ching-Po, Japan; Peter Thomas, Wales; Gary Player, South Africa; Roberto De Vicenzo, Mexico; and Al Balding, Canada. The American contingent includes Jerry Barber, Gene Little, Byron Nelson, Jay Hebert, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Rosburg, Mike Suchak, Jack Burke and Ken Venturi. Herbert Warren Wind, noted golf authority and writer is consultant for the program.

Luis Arroyo Aids Yankee Ace With Good Relief Job

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a southpaw's world at the moment in major league baseball. Left-hander Whitey Ford, with his usual help from left-hander Luis Arroyo, has become the first 20-game winner of the season, and tonight left-hander Warren Spahn shoots for a rare 300th victory.

Spahn, pitching in his 17th season at 40, goes for the big one tonight for the Milwaukee Braves against the Chicago Cubs. If the National League's premier left-hander gets it, he'll be only the 13th pitcher ever to win 300 in the majors.

The last to do it was Lefty Grove, in 1941 with the Boston Red Sox. Eddie Plank is the only other southpaw 300-game winner.

The other 300-game winners, topped by Cy Young's 511, are Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson, Grover Cleveland Alexander, Kid Nichols, Jim Galvin, Tim Lincecum, John Clarkson, Mike Welch and Charles Radbourne.

Ford, who has a 153-61 record for 10 years in the majors, won 20 for the first time with a 3-1 decision over the Los Angeles Angels Thursday that kept the New York Yankees three games ahead of second-place Detroit in the American League race.

His 14th Straight
It was Whitey's 14th consecutive victory, tying the Yankee record set in 1904 by Jack Chesbro. It also marked the 16th time in Ford's 28 starts this season that Arroyo has trudged in from the bullpen.

The Ford-Arroyo combination has become such a ritual that one New York paper, The Mirror, headlined it: "Luis' Ford Wins 20th."

While the Yankees pushed their longest winning streak of the year through eight games, Detroit kept the pace by beating the Chicago White Sox 3-2. Baltimore beat Kansas City 8-0 and Boston defeated Minnesota 3-2 in the other AL games scheduled.

The St. Louis Cardinals won eight in a row for the first time this year with a 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh in the only NL game scheduled.

Ford (20-2), lost a loser on June 29 at Boston, allowed eight of the Angels' nine hits before giving way to the heat and Arroyo in the eighth inning. It was the fourth victory Arroyo has saved for Ford, and he has been the finishing pitcher in six others.

Ferraro Slams 850

Jack Ferraro rebounded from a 165 opener with 214, 235, 236 to bag an 850 foursome in the 3-Min All-Star classic at the Bowlerama last night.

Runnerup Fred Ferraro mixed games of 214, 213, 211, 200 for 838. Buster Ferraro completed the Ferraro Night with 210-232-211-818.

Team points:
Colonial Diner 3, Trailways Cafeteria 2, Aielg's Rest 1, Frank's Rest 4, Ferraro Juniors 4, Schoenstadt 1, Smith's Mobil 0, Unknowns 5, Lubetkin-Regan, Kennedy 4, Broskie 1, De Flumers 0, Unknowns 5, Jones Dairy 4, Rienzo's Market 1.

Restaurants of the United States serve about 67 million meals daily.

DREAM COMES TRUE for 12-year-old Jim McGarry, right, of Kingston as he meets New York Yankee catcher John Blanchard at the Stadium. Jim, whose father, John, is passenger agent for Adirondack Trailways, accompanied 35 youngsters from Glen Falls, Saratoga Springs and the Albany area to Wednesday's pitcher's battle between the American League champions and the Los Angeles Angels. The children made their 10-hour trip in one of Trailways' new, ultra-modern luxury coaches.

Sports Clubs Plans Two Soccer Teams in League

Prepping for the new season, the Kingston Sports Club soccer team will play an exhibition game against the crack Macca-bi's of New York City on Sunday at 3 p. m. at Fleischmanns.

The Central New York League season is due to open a week after Labor Day.

Manager Kurt C. Schoch says the Kingston team is stronger than ever. It made good showings the last two seasons in the Central New York circuit and faces the new campaign with stronger personnel and high hopes for a pennant.

The Sport Club is preparing to field two teams in order to accommodate the growing interest in soccer, Schoch said. It will be represented by a team in each of the CNYL leagues.

All soccer fans are invited to participate in the club activities. Practice sessions are held every Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the Spring Lake field. Meetings are held at Hopper's on Wall Street every first and third Thursdays of the month.

KWBA Schedules Variety, Fashion Show, September 30

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association has announced a Kingston "first," a combination of beautiful fashion set to music and variety acts.

It will take place on Saturday, Sept. 30, at the municipal auditorium as part of the KWBA's finance drive for the New York State women's bowling tournament which opens in Kingston in March, 1962.

The KWBA has been fortunate in securing the talents of the Coach House Players, the Hericks and their marionettes, Bill Lahl and his Barber Shop Choral Group for the night. A personal appearance by a national celebrity is also expected. This surprise personality will be the highlight of the evening.

Name Committees

Mrs. Nell Glennon, Association president, has announced the following committee chairmen for the show:

Fashions and models—Evelyn Dolson and Joan B. Grant; Tickets—Sis Balash, Kingston area; Nell Alverson, New Paltz; Harriet Mulligan, Rosendale; Libby Kennedy, Woodstock.

Music and entertainment—Arlene Raible; decorations, June Van Kleef, Flo Shaw; refreshments, Winnie Overfield, Marie Bechtold; program, Amy Miller; hostess and usherettes, Evelyn Gross; publicity, Lee Madden.

The public is cordially invited and urged to make early reservations. The amount is limited and none will be sold at the door.

Geneva Ace Steals For the 72nd Time

Geneva second baseman Cesar Tovar stole his 72nd base of the season, tying a New York-Penn. Baseball League record, as the first place Redlegs routed Jamestown, 10-1, Thursday night and extended their lead to six games.

Tovar equalled a mark set in 1933 by Dick Lasteck of Jamestown.

In other league action, Batavia won its seventh straight game, beating Erie 4-0. Batavia moved into second place, one percentage point ahead of Erie.

Elmira drubbed Wellsville, 10-1, and Olean swept a doubleheader from last-place Auburn 12-3 and 8-7.

Schassler Due To Face Braves

The West Haverstraw Lumbermen hold a 2-1 edge over the Kingston Braves in the NY-NJ League and it could be 3-1 after Saturday night's regular season finale at Dietz stadium.

Indications are that Red Schassler will go for the Rockland County nine and that means trouble for Kingston. Schassler recently won a 4-3, 10-inning decision over the Braves at Dietz in a contest in which all Braves runs were unearned. One of the veterans of the NY-NJ circuit, Schassler is a topflight pitcher with an extensive minor league background.

The Lumbermen also boast one of the league's top players in third baseman Joe Klopchin, a perennial .300 hitter and flashy glove man.

Mike Spada or John Risley will pitch for Kingston.

Kiwanis Stops Legion, 5-2

Breaking a 2-2 tie with a three run rally in the sixth inning, the Kiwanis dumped the Legion, 5-2, in a Babe Ruth league game last evening.

The winning rally started with a walk and a hit by Vince Fisher. Then Berardi slammed a home run to break the tie. Fisher was the winner over Larry Delaney. Schabot homered for the Legion while Burns and Delaney stroked doubles.

Darkhorse Advances In Tennis Tournery

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Frank Froehling, the 19-year-old unseeded stringbean, loomed as the dark horse threat to the big-name players as the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships today approached its week-end climax.

Froehling, Coral Gables, Fla., Thursday bombarded semi-retired Mike Green of Philadelphia 10-8, 6-4 to move into Saturday's semifinals against another 19-year-old, fifth-seeded Davis Cupper Dennis Ralston.

Froehling will be the only unseeded player in the semifinals when he plays Ralston, the Bakersfield, Calif., slugger who ousted Jim Shaffer, St. Petersburg, Fla., 7-5, 6-2.

In the women's semifinals, top-seeded Karen Hantze, Chula Vista, Calif., faces Carole Caldwell, Santa Monica, Calif.

Dascoli Firing is 1st Time Ever During Regular Season

By HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Controversial umpire Frank Dascoli was fired Thursday by National League President Warren Giles in an action unprecedented in modern-day major league baseball.

A spokesman for the National League said he could recall no instance of an outright dismissal of an umpire during the season play.

Giles said Dascoli's dismissal came about because recent remarks attributed to the umpire "makes his continued employment incompatible with the best interest of our umpiring staff, our office and the league."

Back in 1952 umpire Douglas (Scotty) Robb quit after it was reported he was fined more than $100 by St. Louis Cardinal manager Eddie Stanky and Solly Hemus, then a Cardinal player, after a ruckus over a called third strike on Hemus. Robb later joined the American League.

Hemus also has figured in Dascoli's troubles. Giles made it plain there was no question of Dascoli's integrity or impartiality on the field. Dascoli was registered at a Cincinnati hotel Thursday night but it declined to give his room number and he could not be located in the usual baseball hangouts in the downtown area.

In League Since 1948
Dascoli, a resident of Danielson, Conn., joined the National League

Slow Fishing Seen For the Weekend

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Freshwater fishing in New York State is generally slow—a normal condition this time of year, the State Conservation Department reports. The department listed these fishing conditions Thursday:

Adirondacks—Streams continue to be low, with fishing fair. Bass biting better at night than during the day, and being taken from deeper waters. Good bass fishing at Lake George.

Mohawk—Upper Hudson and Catskills—Streams low; rainy conditions in both east and west branch of Delaware. Fishing only fair in Catskill reservoirs, but rainbow starting to hit in Glenside Lake (Putnam County).

Central and Western New York—Smallmouth bass being taken from shoals along Lake Ontario, from Sodus Bay eastward; largemouth bass and perch biting in Silver Lake (Wyoming County).

Some walleyes hitting in Oneida and Herkese lakes. Musky fishing has leveled off after tremendous early season; bass fishing is fair in Chautauque Lake, and good in Loon Lake, Keuka and other small lakes in region. Fly fishing for brown trout is fair in Ischua Creek and Wiscay.

Su Mac Lad Heads Crack Field In $15,000 Race at Monticello

MONTICELLO—Su Mac Lad, International Trotting Champion, will head the $15,000 Free-for-All Trot at Monticello Raceway here Saturday night, it was announced by Racing Secretary James J. Dunnigan.

The Stanley Dancer mount, who fractured the Yonkers Raceway track record a week ago in a blazing 2:00 flat, will be the odds-on favorite to do the same at the Mighty M.

Also entered in all-star attraction, one of the greatest trotting races ever put together at Monticello, are Silver Sing, Senator Frost, Hickory Pride, Uncle Sam, Whitefoot Joe and Mr. Simpson.

Su Mac Lad, who set an all-time one year money earnings mark with last week's victory at Yonkers, was just a fifth of a second off the world trot record of 1:59.4 held by Darn Fast, Stanley's brother, Harold Dancer, was in the sulky.

The Lad has been beaten three times this season, twice by Merrie Duke, who will race in the Harness Tracks of America at the Mighty M September 2. Air Record, who set the Monticello track mark of 2:03, Aug. 20, holds the only other decision over him.

Even Up Here
Merrie Duke upset the Lad in the American Trotting Championship at Roosevelt Raceway, then lost to him in the International. But the Byron Kuth-owned Merrie Duke came back to edge out Su Mac Lad in the Challenge Cup final night feature at the Westbury track.

The Lad drew the seventh post position in Saturday night's race and his primary competition Silver Song, is along side in the sixth slot. Whitefoot Joe, who finished third in the American Trotting Championship, is the dark horse favorite in the race will have the rail. Fred Parks will drive.

Mr. Simpson, with George Bernauer in the sulky, drew post two while Uncle Sam, an HTA Trot eligible and recent campaigner at Monticello, has the third post with Lou Huber Jr. driving.

Senator Frost, world's champion gelding, will leave from SATURDAY CHOICE—Su Mac Lad, the international champion, will be the odds-on choice to win the $15,000 FFA Trot at Monticello Raceway Saturday night.

post position four and Hickory Pride, with a 1:59.2 clocking over Vernon Downs' three-quarter mile track this season will start from post position five. Silver Song, with Howard Camden driving, is considered the challenger. Earlier this season, before Su Mac Lad had been beaten, driver Stanley Dancer said he felt Silver Song would be the one to beat his horse.

Mr. Simpson was clocked in 2:01.2 last week at Batavia, although he lost out by half a length. Su Mac Lad scored seven in a row at Yonkers before it closed its spring meeting and clocked well at Roosevelt except for his losses to Merrie Duke and Air Record.

Maroon-Olivet, Bailer-Rappe Bridge Winners

Dr. Habeeb Maroon and Dr. John Olivet of Kingston posted a 63 per cent game to take first place on the North-South side of the Glenierie Bridge Club's fractional point bridge tournament.

Winners on the East-West side were Ron Bailer and Jerry Rappe of Kingston with 57 per cent. Twenty-six boards were in play in a 13-table Mitchell movement.

Runnersup on the North-South side were: Mrs. Harold Rakov, Kingston, and Dr. Paul Perlman, Woodstock, 59 per cent; Stephen Pauker and Lewis Levy, Kingston, 56 per cent; Mrs. Thomas Brooks, Hyde Park, and Harold Schwinger, Kingston, 55 per cent. Herbert Gertner and Joseph Pechloff were second on the East-West side with 56 per cent. Charles Hobbs, Poughkeepsie, and Roy Wolf, Kingston, posted 52 per cent, followed by Mrs. Esther Weissman and Paul Meyer, Kingston, 52 per cent.

A fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

Jack Russell New Manager For Hurley Go Kart Track

Jack Russell has taken over the management of the Mt. Top Kart track in Hurley, it was announced today.

Russell, a truck operator, was instrumental in building the track and succeeds Ray Smith as track manager.

The Hurley layout, with its excellent accommodations for drivers and spectators, is the only track operating under the lights in this part of the country.

MONARCH ACE—Ira McKnight, 22-year old, 5 feet 11, 185 pounds, is a hard hitting catcher for the Kansas City Monarchs. A native of South Bend, Indiana, McKnight is a former New York Yankee farmhand, who won the Negro American League batting crown with an impressive .403 average. He reported in excellent shape last spring and hit 10 home runs in the first 15 games played by the Monarchs. Scouts already have tabbed him as ready for Triple A baseball. The Monarchs and their legendary pitcher, Satchel Paige, will be at Dietz Stadium against the Kingston Braves on Tuesday, Aug. 22.

Mrs. Arthur Motzkin Awarded Sylvia Voss Memorial Trophy

Mrs. Arthur Motzkin of Wiltwyck Country Club will have her name engraved on the Sylvia Voss Memorial Trophy as a result of her performance in the Ulster County women's championships this year.

Competition for the Voss trophy is restricted to Wiltwyck Country Club members and is given annually in memory of Sylvia Voss, one of the greatest women golfers ever developed in this part of the country.

The award goes to the Wiltwyck golfer posting low net in the county championships. Mrs. Motzkin not only led the Wiltwyck contingent with her 36-hole net of 142, but also won the Ulster County Handicap championship with the score.

Boys, Junior Net Tournament Scheduled to Begin Monday

Action in the Hudson River Valley boys and junior tennis tournaments starts Monday on the courts at the State University College of Education at New Paltz. Entries are being accepted until Saturday noon.

Finals are slated Sunday, Aug. 20. Competition is for boys under 15 and juniors under 18 and the tourney is sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis Assn.

Tournament director Dr. Charles P. Wolbers expects youngsters from the Manhattan area, New Jersey, Catskills and Albany as well as those from the New Paltz vicinity.

Many of the youngsters are now taking part in the tournament now being held at the college. This one involves but is not restricted, to older and more experienced players.

The New Paltz tournaments have been listed in official U.S.L.T.A. bulletins and in World Tennis magazine. Complete entry blanks and information are available from Dr. Wolbers.

Clyde Smith Wins Middletown Race

Clyde Smith of Kingston won the 20 lap "Flat Head-In Line" division at Middletown on Wednesday night. Frankie Schneider captured his third 25-lap feature in the open competition.

Following Schneider across the wire were Al Tasnady, Carl VanHorn, Russ Hoek, Bob Malzahn and George Sleight.

After Smith in the "in line" division were Dick Kaiser, Bill Tanzosh and Ray Anderson.

Women's Swim Meet Is Underway

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chris Von Saltza, the retiring queen of American swimming, shared the spotlight today with teenage phenoms Carolyn House and Donna de Varona in the women's National AAU outdoor swimming and diving championships.

Five titles were at stake this afternoon and night in the second day of the four-day meet in the 50 meter John B. Celly Memorial Pool. In the only championship decided Thursday night, Miss House, an Olympic veteran at 15, powered her way to a decisive repeat triumph in the 1500 meter freestyle.

Miss Von Saltza, gunning for an unprecedented six gold medals, took dead aim on two today.

She was favored to capture the 100 meter freestyle for the fourth straight year and succeed retiree Lynn Burke as ruler of the 200 meter backstrokers.

Louise Suggs Leads Kansas City Tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Louise Suggs, the steady pro from Georgia, says position off the tee likely will determine the winner of the $7,500 Kansas City Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Suggs shot a 2-under par 33-37-72 for the first round lead on the 6,463-yard Brookridge Country Club course Thursday.

Closest rival to Miss Suggs at the start of the second round was Wanda Sanches, young Baton Rouge, La., star, who fired a 2-under 35 to go with her front nine 40 for 75.

"That creek (Indian Creek) that bisects four holes and loose dirt in places makes it real important you get a good tee shot," Louise explained.

Pairings are Listed For Valley Net Play

Four top notch net stars have reached the semi-finals of the Hudson River tennis tournament at New Paltz. Allan Fischl, former Yale University ace, will meet Carlos Cisneros of Poughkeepsie and Jesus Arujo of Poughkeepsie will meet Mal Nelson of Newburgh on Saturday at 2 o'clock. The winners will meet at the same time on Sunday for the coveted crown.

Arujo advanced to the semi-finals by default after Steve Bank, a former champion, was unable to play. Business took him out of town.

Quarter finals of the men's doubles will continue tonight when Art Jones and Dr. Sam Simon of Poughkeepsie meet Mal Nelson and Bill Gilcrest of Newburgh in one match and Cisneros and Arujo tangle with Gordon Krajna and Tom Davidson of New Paltz in the other.

The winners will collide tomorrow in a semi-final match and in the other semi-final match, Fischl and Jack Dennison of New York City will face Tom Huggins and Col. Parsons of Stewart Air Base.

The women have also reached the semi-finals. Kitty Samuels, the defending champion, will play Sherry Daniels of Poughkeepsie and Barbara Young of Poughkeepsie is scheduled to oppose Jean Metzler of Newburgh in semi-final matches. The women's championship match will start at 3 p. m. on Sunday.

Little LEAGUERS

ALL Lions Top Firemen, 11-2

Opening up with a four run blast in the first inning, the Lions stopped the Firemen, 11-2, in an American Little League game yesterday.

Frank McGowan went the distance to record the win. He was touched for only three hits while walking four and striking out 14 batters.

Joe Curlin led the Lions with a pair of doubles, McGowan, Al Alkon, Mike Milano and Jim Murtag rapped two base hits and Peter Caprotti slammed a triple.

The line score:
R H
Lions 403 310—11 10
Firemen 200 900—2 3
Frank McGowan and Roland Augustine; Larry Crantz and Bill Wilber.

Cubs, Tigers Set Playoff

Callanan's Cubs and the Canfield Supply Tigers will meet Monday, 6 p. m., at the National Little League diamond to decide the first round champion. Both clubs finished the round in a tie for the top spot.

The Cubs won the second half title with a 14-1 win over the Tigers. A win on Monday will give them the league title. If the Tigers win, a best-of-three series will be held to determine the champion.

Glenn DeWitt is expected to oppose Steve VanDyke of the Tigers in the playoff game.

Sioux Wallops Seneca, 17-0

Scoring almost at will, the Sioux walloped the Senecas, 17-0, in a rain shortened Metropolitan Knottville league game last evening.

The winners jumped to a quick 6-0 lead in the first frame and they were never threatened.

Rudy Dirks, Barry Present and Tom Reinhardt tripled to pace the attack. Dirks also added a double and single. Reinhardt, Bill Richter, Jim Cronan and Irv Glass doubled during the engagement. The Sioux batters totaled 15 hits.

The line score:
R H
Sioux 635 3—17 15
Senecas 000 0—0 1
Dwight Holden, Gary Davis and Jim Esposito; Rudy Dirks, Bill Richter and Tom Reinhardt.

Red Sox Win Hurley Title

The Red Sox captured the crown in the Town of Hurley Little League with 10-3 and 17-6 triumphs over the Tigers. Bill Schreiber and Charlie Moore were the winning pitchers and they were backed by some lusty hitting.

Moore aided his cause with a home run in the second game while Bob Smith and Tom Wamsley slammed homers for the Tigers. Moore finished his evening's work with three hits. Wamsley, Schreiber, Ralph Hoffman, Al Vogt, Steve Smith and Fred Ickies all had two hits.

Giants Outslug Indians, 15-12

Hitters had the best of it in the Woodstock Little League as the Giants nipped the Indians, 15-12, in a real slugfest.

The losers opened with a nine run blast in the first inning but they were caught in the fourth

Grant Likes His Box Office Gold, Another Comedy

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cary Grant is making his 60th movie. Like the majority of the others, it's a comedy.

Still an also-ran in the Oscar derby, he admitted he could probably garner an academy nomination with a drama. But Cary is more interested in box office gold than in played statues. And he likes comedies.

"It's good for an audience to laugh or cry, because either one is a release," he commented. "I happen to like to hear people laugh. There is no more pleasant sound to me than to go into the Radio City Music Hall and hear that immense place filled with laughter."

The new comedy is called "Touch of Mink," and it combines him for the first time with Doris Day—"an excellent comedienne, and there aren't many around any more."

Cary has constructed the project with infinite care, as always. Though he never takes producer's credit, his fine hand is evident in all the preparations.

Cary was having a rare day off from shooting. He roamed his office and commented on film comedy.

"Comedy is much more of a challenge," said he. "A drama can be greeted by silence and still be successful. A comedy must draw laughter. And you never know if it will until you're all finished and it's too late to change it."

Despite the complex nature of the Cary Grant comedy, the premise is simple, he said.

"You take a man who seems to have every advantage and you place him in an untenable position," he explained. "The laughter comes from audience's reaction to his discomfort and their delight that it is happening to him, and not them."

Worker Falls to Death From Massena Bridge

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—A construction foreman watched helplessly Thursday as his son plunged 140 feet to his death from a bridge being built over the St. Lawrence River.

Marcel LaBonte, 20-year-old steelworker from Hull, Que., slipped from a 24-inch beam while installing a hand rail on the Canadian section of the bridge.

His father, Ovide, was working only a few yards away.

The accident was the first fatal one since construction began last October. The bridge will link Massena and Cornwall, Ont.

Hotel Worker Killed

WOODRIDGE, N. Y. (AP)—Theodore J. Moore, 53, of New York City, was killed early today by an automobile in this Sullivan County community.

Police said that Moore stepped against the side of a car driven by Sandra Bergman, 18, of Woodridge.

Moore was employed at a resort hotel here.

Improve Maintenance, Bus Company Advised

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission Thursday directed Saratoga Bus Service Inc. and Whitehall Autobus Co. Inc. to improve maintenance on their buses within 60 days.

The companies' garages at Saratoga Springs and Whitehall are inadequate, the PSC said a public hearing had shown.

Lawrence Sassele "owns both companies. Saratoga Bus operates between Saratoga Springs and Schenectady. Whitehall Autobus operates between Glens Falls and Whitehall.

Albany Teeners Block Street for Play Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Signs hung on barricades that blocked traffic on North Pearl Street read "Come on city, wake up and give us a place to play."

Police said about 30 teen-agers stopped the traffic Thursday night with a power company's barricades.

A youth said the demonstration for better playgrounds in Albany's North End, a low-income area, was spontaneous.

Police dispersed the gathering and removed the barricades without incident.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Remember the days when the "Big Ferry" used to run between Rhinecliff and Rondout, so we could get trains over there. The people from there came over here to shop, go to the movies and transact business. That is all gone now.

We have the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge which seems to go for miles through wilderness on this side and hit several miles of it on the other side, which makes it a long inconvenient journey for both sides. You simply do not save time with the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge which goes from nowhere to nowhere. I cannot ever understand why anyone picked that spot which is over a mile wide, when they could connect Route 9W with 9 right from some spot in Port Ewen to Rhinecliff, where the river is much narrower and would connect two live places.

I remember when the Orpheum Theatre in Rondout used to be running, we used to see the same people come over every week from Rhinecliff and Rhinebeck to the shows, as they used to stop in the store. I think Kingston lost the Rhinecliff and Rhinebeck trade by this strange-ly placed bridge.

Rhinebeck in Dutchess County and Rondout and Kingston in Ulster have much in common, but now we are not even in waving distance since the bridge. Rhinebeck is considered one of the oldest settlements in the Hudson Valley. It is said, five men, back in 1686 bought some 2,200 acres of land on the east bank of the Hudson River for which they paid the Indians 10 cans powder, 40 fathoms wampum, 5 axes, 6 buffalo, 4 blankets, 5 horns, 8 pairs stockings, 5 kettles, 8 shirts, half anker rum, 2 adzes, 1 frying pan, 4 guns, and 2 drawing knives.

The first settlers over there were Holland Dutch and French Huguenots. It then called "Kipsbergen." In 1697, Judge Henry Beekman of Kingston got a land grant from the English Crown and shortly afterwards started the village of Rhinebeck some two miles inland. In 1713 Judge Beekman of Kingston called it "Ryn Beck."

In 1715 came the Palatines, refugees from the Palatinate on the Rhine which is compared to the Hudson by some. They came to this new land as tenant farmers. Rhinebeck at that time included all of Red Hook on the north and Staatsburg to the south. These people were hard working and fine craftsmen.

Judge Beekman died in 1716 and so his son, Colonel Henry Beekman guided the German immigrants into making a good home for themselves and in that way they built up a prosperous Rhinebeck. They grew grain, built saw and paper mills and worked their crafts from the Rhine in America's Rhinebeck. The products were so well received that their work on boats, cooperage, leather goods, vehicles and clothing became famous from New York to Albany. These Europeans from Holland, Germany and France kept the village clean and busy. Their farm produce and other products found a ready market, so that the sloops and other sailing vessels going along the Hudson River stopped to do their buying there.

Going through the village now, one sees spacious lawns and handsome, well kept and built homes, of many rooms, with big porches. The entire village seems to be built of hundreds of these large homes.

There does not seem to be any slum area. There is an air of pride and contentment there. Their business section has penny meters like we had at first in Kingston.

Flash Floods May Hit the Midwest

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More rain fell across broad areas from the southern Plateau region into the Ohio Valley today, with heavy falls and possible flash floods in sections of the Midwest.

Rains during the morning in northeast Missouri and west central Illinois followed Thursday's downpours in southern and west central Illinois which caused flooding of rich lowland farm sections and homes.

Most widespread showers and rains during the night were in the eastern Great Lakes region and in the Ohio Valley. Strong winds and heavy rain hit the Indianapolis area. More than three inches of rain doused the Columbus, Ohio area and more than two inches in Dayton, Ohio section. Afternoon and evening showers were indicated in the warm and humid air in sections of the East and South as well as from the Far West into the Midwest.

Temperatures ranged from 95 at Blythe, Calif., to 52 at Dickinson, N.D.

Modifications Are Ordered for X15 Rocket Plane

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Modifications have been ordered for an X15 rocket plane which lost cabin pressure during a Navy pilot's checkout flight.

When cabin pressure dropped during Cmdr. Forrest Peterson's flight Thursday, his pressure suit inflated automatically to protect him.

The suit, ballooned out by gas pressure, slowed Peterson's reactions a trifle—and he went 280 miles an hour faster and 5,000 feet higher than he had planned because he was slow in reaching a flap control.

The X15 reached a speed of 2,720 m.p.h. and an altitude of 80,000 feet in an eight-minute flight, then landed here. It was Peterson's first flight in the X15 with a newer, more powerful rocket engine.

The X15's record flights have taken it to 3,603 m.p.h. and up 169,000 feet.

He'll Be Tougher: Mitchell

Experienced Case Worker Gets Old Welfare Position

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Bert

Grenis, an experienced case worker, has been appointed to the welfare post of intake supervisor in this city's battle to keep relief costs down.

In announcing the appointment of Grenis Thursday, City Manager Joseph Mitchell said the post is an old one, but with a new concept, adding: "quite simply, he'll be tougher than before."

Grenis, Mitchell said, "will separate the wheat from the chaff. His job will be to discourage new cases that are unqualified, and get at the chiselers."

Earlier Thursday, Mitchell appointed three new case workers—two women teachers and a male Negro college graduate. In line with Mitchell's beliefs, they are not specially trained social workers. Mitchell has said he wants case workers who do not believe that society owes a duty to the individual without regard as to whether the individual owes a duty to society.

The most controversial of the 13-point welfare code are the provisions to cut off aid to unwed mothers who bear more children out of wedlock and to able-bodied, unemployed men who refuse to do work for the city.

Mitchell says he expects a sharp drop in relief rolls as a result of cutting off relief to more than 400 persons in three categories: aid to dependent children, home relief, and temporary aid to dependent children. These persons will receive no more payments until they prove their qualifications for welfare benefits, Mitchell said.

He added that this technique was employed in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., last year and decreased the number of welfare recipients.
